

Deputy is blamed for probe

Deputy Richard Anderson of the Madison County sheriff's department has been subjected to pressures from department staff members who feel he initiated a current federal investigation, it was asserted Tuesday in Edwardsville.

The Press-Record this week disclosed an alleged threat against Anderson.

Anderson was named in a threat voiced to Greg Homyer, a former Manpower employee in the department, Homyer has alleged.

The latter says a high-ranking official asserted that Anderson has "made things very difficult for people in the department who are in a position to hurt him — and not just professionally."

The Edwardsville Intelligencer said sources say Anderson's image in the department is that of a "troublemaker" because of investigation rumors.

He has acknowledged being interviewed by the Internal Revenue Service and has declined to say whether he has been approached by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, it was related.

No one has yet divulged who gave the FBI a copy of a letter purportedly signed by another deputy. That deputy has been quoted as denying that he was the author.

The letter claims that there has been prostitution in past years.

It also questions policies followed by the former Madison County Deputies Association, alleging that the funds raised far exceeded those applied directly to publicized benefit projects.

All but aldermen are paid

Granite City finance officials have paid a city payroll of $130,477 for the last half of May although City Council members failed to specifically approve the payroll and other city bills.

A council session May 24 was adjourned after an alderman objected to it proceeding.

The city treasurer's office has not included payment of per diem fees due the 14 aldermen for attending meetings during the two-week pay period. These costs amounted to $2,100.

City Clerk Robert Stevens said the aldermen's pay was held up at the suggestion of the Finance Committee, headed by Sixth Ward Alderman Gerald Parmley.

Parmley was critical of actions during the May 24 meeting which led to early adjournment without approval of regular bills, the payroll and other city business.

The clerk and treasurer did not sanction payment of regular claims for services and equipment during the last half of May. Stevens said these claims can be authorized in the

Madison adding another company but constraints still plague rest of area

The Madison City Council Tuesday night authorized Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk to enter into agreements with the Open Kitchens Co. of Chicago to locate a plant in the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park.

Tentative plans call for the new company to purchase 122 acres of land from the city for $120,000.

The firm packages sand and other items for vending machines.

The company will construct a building between the Swift Co. building and the Interstate United building.

A total of $140,000 in municipal bonds will be sold, with the First Granite City National Bank and the First National Bank in Madison each purchasing 50 percent of the bonds.

The company will employ 12 to 15 people upon opening and is expected to grow, according to the mayor.

Harry Reynolds, general manager of Open Kitchens, said, "We hope to break ground within the next two weeks and begin operations in the new building by the first part of September."

In other actions the council voted to have the city clerk write the Governor of Illinois and members of the state legislature to voice objections to a plan to convert Alton State hospital into a prison.

"I think if they do away with the Alton hospital this would be a serious hardship for the people in this area," Mayor Sasyk said. "People who need help from here would have to

Antenna hazards

By LIL SQUAW

There are CB antennas everywhere you look. Some are good looking and some are downright ugly. But no matter how good they look or how far out they get, they all have some things in common, and one of these things is danger.

CB antennas are great conductors of electricity, and therefore do not mix well with things like power lines, phone lines and lightning.

According to Electric

Constraints continue to plague the Quad-City area and Madison County in economic growth and industrial development, a "brainstorming" discussion showed here yesterday.

While some of the curbs are real and others are only imagined, both kinds of constraints can affect the future of a community, it was asserted by developers, planners and businessmen at the gathering.

Consensus was that, of all the problems needing to be dealt with, a lack of sanitary sewers serving prospective local industrial sites is the chief obstacle.

A comprehensive sewer program serving primarily the Namecki and Chouteau Townships area—and utilizing the spacious Granite City primary-secondary sewage treatment plant—has received all necessary governmental and court authorizations but currently is being delayed by an appeal to the Appellate Court, it was noted.

Possible ways of seeking to accelerate handling of the court appeal were discussed briefly. A committee led by Carl E. Mathias was empowered to look into this and other economic development issues.

Many strengths of the local community and county were cited, and it was brought out that there has been continuing success in developing the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park in Madison and in developing transportation-related portions of the Tri-City Regional Port District.

The industrial zone of the Port area will benefit if a foreign trade zone is approved, Manager Carl A. Ranft said, but even more impact will be felt if sewer lines are installed, he commented. Water lines already are in place, Ranft said.

Panelists were: Patrick Slack, industrial representative, Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development. He discussed the industrial development process and the factors which industry con-

Cleanup, pickup budget increased

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

During a heated meeting and public hearing on the Namecki Township town budgets Tuesday night, the board voted to make some concessions to the requests of the audience but held firm on its stand not to transfer $30,000 in health and drainage funds to the highway department, despite an mandate from the electors at the annual town meeting in April that the funds be transferred.

After lengthy discussion and a semi-private talk in another room, the board voted to pass budgets for town purposes totaling $29,685, or $1,700 higher than the budgets passed for public display 30 days ago.

The only changes approved by the board were in the federal revenue sharing fund where $15,000 was transferred from other funds to increase the amount for the environmental pickup and cleanup program from $25,000 to $40,000.

New items added to the revenue sharing fund included $600 for printing and legal publications, and $1,100 to aid the State Park Auxiliary Police. The transfers into the environmental cleanup program came after Highway Commissioner Frank Melchic objected to a proposal by Norman Hessler to reduce the program to nine months and to use only two employees to collect trash and limbs.

Melchic and former township supervisor Louis Whitsell said last year, when former highway commissioner Albert Bell ran out of funds after nine months, there were numerous objections from persons wanting trash and limbs picked up.

They also noted Christmas is the busiest time for the trash pickups, as old appliances and items are thrown out after new ones are received.

Melchic also objected to the idea of using only two employees for the environmental program, stating, "At times, a high-lift tractor is needed to lift heavy items and that requires an extra

'Normandy' landings by GC man

On the windy, storm-ridden beaches of Normandy, France, in December 1944, the heavy steel doors of hundreds of amphibious assault landing craft crashed to the surf and sand, signaling the beginning of America's greatest military triumph.

Nearly 33 years later, the recognition that the United States may someday be called on to descend in a similar fashion in defense of freedom is still dramatically apparent to many, including Patrick L. Hennek of Granite City.

That realization can be visualized on the white, glistening sands of Silver Strand Beach in Coronado, Calif., where the 26-year-old Hennek maneuvers through simulated training exercises as part of the Navy's continuing effort to stay prepared.

Hennek, a Navy hospital corpsman second class petty officer, is a member of Naval Beach Group One (NBG-1), an amphibious assault team of over 700 officers and men in three highly specialized commands.

The commands comprise the amphibious arm that gives the Navy and Marine Corps their punch in conducting over-the-beach assaults.

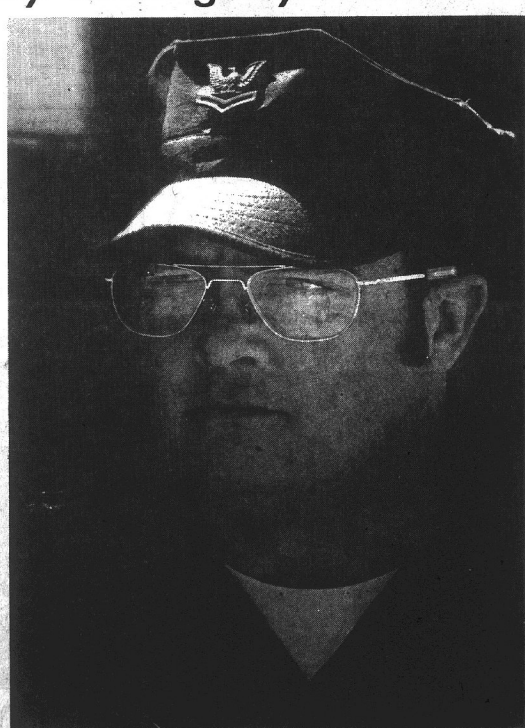

In this particular military operation, space age technology in many respects has taken a back seat to the strong backs and professionalism and valor of a group of men whose wartime 60-beach life expectancy has been estimated at between 11 seconds and 15 minutes. Of that, Hennek claims no qualms.

"The battle situation is what it's all about," comments Hennek, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hennek of Granite City.

"In my job, the basic requirement is helping people." The Illinoisian is a medic with Beachmaster Unit One — 154 officers and men tasked with conducting "beach party" operations for landing and moving troops, equipment and supplies across the beach. They also are charged with evacuating casualties and prisoners of war.

Like the "United We Land" motto pinned to the shoulder of Hennek's olive green fatigue

Pack 8 hosts bicycle rodeo

Cub Scout Pack 8 sponsored by the First United Presbyterian Church held its annual bicycle rodeo last week. Trophies were presented to the winners as follows: Kerry Andrews, Jimmy Ellis, Paul Wilson Jr. and Ricky Sutton.

A pack meeting was held following the rodeo. The opening ceremony was performed by Den One led by Mrs. Mary Ann Ramsey, who also introduced John Moon Sr. as the new cubmaster.

Bobcat patches were presented to David Bascoo, Ronald Gilleland and Tony Carrazles; recruiter strips to Patrick Hurcoy, John Moore Jr. and Steve Eaton; a gold arrow and two silver arrows were presented to Patrick Hurcoy.

Dinner cords were awarded to Kerry Andrews, assistant dinner cord to Patrick Hurcoy; artist badges to Danny Hall, and Paul Wilson Jr.; traveler badge to Paul Wilson Jr.; Webelos badges to Danny Hall and Paul Wilson and one-year pin was presented to Paul Wilson Jr. and Don Costello.

An eight-year pin was given to John DeCourcy and registration cards were distributed to the boys and den leader.

The pack received a Springfield (Ill.) pilgrimage ribbon and a scout-o-rama first place ribbon, it was announced.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gilleland, Mrs. Joyce Carrazles, Mrs. Michael Hurcoy, Richard Hurcoy, Mrs. Patrick, Mrs. Diane Miller, Mrs. Veda Landreth, Mrs. Jane Ellis, Don Hull Sr. and daughter Dawn, Mrs. Bascoo, Ruth and Leonard Bascoo, Mrs. John Moore and daughter Brenda Mrs. Marcella Rowland, and cub scouts David Patrick, Chris Landreth and Kevin Thompson.

Teachers honor Miss Kuenstler

To honor Miss Helen Kuenstler upon completion of 25 years as a member of the Granite City High School faculty, the English Department held a social meeting at the home of Sandra Hughes.

Approximately 20 English teachers and James Dumont, principal at South, attended the reception. Mrs. Marjorie Richards and Mrs. Dorothy Votoupal, former members of the department, also attended. Miss Kuenstler received as tokens of appreciation for her efforts, not only as a teacher, but also as the department head, a Waterford complete and Waterford ring holder. Several teachers entertained the group with selections on the piano.

Mrs. Phyllis Weiss, of the art department, designed a scroll inscribed with a quotation from a poem by William Wordsworth. Twenty-two teachers' names were also inscribed.

Miss Kuenstler thanked all the teachers for their cooperation and labors in contributing to the success of the department, especially during a period of change.

Nameoki Methodist Vacation School

Vacation Bible School will begin at Nameoki United Methodist Church, Pontoon Road and Primrose Avenue, Monday, June 6, and will continue daily from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. until June 17, according to the pastor, the Rev. William Fester.

Classes will be conducted for all ages from 3-year olds through grade six. Activities will include Bible study, films, music, arts and crafts and will also offer recreation and refreshments.

The junior and senior high youth groups will serve as assistants in the classes and also have a class of their own for a portion of the time.

Mrs. Roger Basasch will serve as director of the program, the minister added. Rev. Fester invites anyone with no church home to share in the event.

Laura is also a member of the '77 graduating class. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John Lamb, 26 Wilson Park Drive, and has attended Lakeview since its beginning three years ago. Her grade point average is 95 per cent. She has been on the volleyball team, is a cheerleader, and a member of the quartet. She has enrolled in the Maranatha Bible College for the fall term.

Steven Gray and Misty Stark are both second-grade students. Steven is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gray, Washington Park. Misty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Stark, 5109 Maryville Road.

Registration Saturday for summer program in Venice

Registration for the Venice Park District's summer program will take place from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday in the Venice Recreation Center, 306 Broadway.

The program is open to all boys and girls residing within the Venice Park District boundaries, who are between the ages of 7 and 13 years.

Youngsters registered on Saturday will begin the recreational program on Monday, June 13.

The series of weekday sessions, lasting from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., will continue for eight weeks, ending Aug. 15.

A hot lunch will be served daily to participants at the Venice School cafeteria, according to Miss Judy Reidelberger, program director.

Those enrolled will have a variety of activities available to them this year, Miss Reidelberger said.

In the Recreation Center, under the direction of Ila Fleig, and sports and games will be directed by Larry Boyd. Swimming instruction will be given at the Tricity Area YMCA. Beginning tennis skills also will be part of the park district's instruction program.

Little Rascals' movies and cartoons are planned at the Venice Public Library.

Children participating in the total program will have a wide selection of summer field trips available to enjoy, Miss Reidelberger said.

Plans are being completed to take the youngsters to such places as Shaw's Garden, the Jefferson Memorial Expansion, Science and Transportation museum, Cahokia Mounds State Park, St. Louis Zoo, a St. Louis Cardinal baseball game and an excursion on board the Admiral.

The field trips are open to those enrolled in the program, Miss Reidelberger stressed.

Inquiries concerning any of the activities should be directed to Miss Reidelberger at 879-2412.

GC library plans musical shows

A Folk Music Ensemble, using different types of traditional instruments, will perform a variety of folk music selections at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 4, sponsored by the Granite City Public Library.

On Tuesday, June 7, at 1:30 p.m., the Bel Canto Ensemble will present the story of Red Riding Hood as told to the music of Verdi, Mozart and Leoncavallo.

Both programs will be presented at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, across from the library, and will be open to the public, according to Jeanette Kampen of the library staff.

'Pool for all seasons' at Wilson Park studied

An increase in state minimum standards and continued deterioration of the Wilson Park swimming pool have prompted the Granite City Park District Board of Commissioners to consider total replacement of existing pool facilities, and possible approaches will be discussed by board members at a Wednesday, June 8, meeting.

Park Board President Robert "Bob" Patrick said this week the commissioners will have to initiate action soon or face possible closing of the pool.

"A bond issue to construct a new pool and other park improvements may be sought," he added. Cost estimates have not yet been projected.

"It has been suggested that we look into construction of an all-season enclosed swimming area, and also it has been suggested to just build another outdoor pool," Patrick said.

Supt. Harold Brown has cost the 27-year-old facility has cost the district more than $100,000 over the past few years in replacing obsolete cast iron underground pipes.

He noted that chlorine flowing through such pipes can cause deterioration.

"Modern day pools have plastic material pipes to handle the water," he said.

He said an Illinois Department of Public Health inspection revealed the pool's filtering system is operating below a state minimum standard.

He explained that the system is required to recirculate 275,000 gallons of water every six hours "and, at this time, though it poses no threat to the public's health, the system is not up to par."

Hurt in Mitchell

Mrs. Barbara Fulmer, 51, of 601 Margaret Ave., Mitchell, was injured in an auto accident at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday on Old Alton Road south of Meadow Lane in Mitchell.

Her car and the auto of Larry Patton Jr., 2713 Anglin Drive, collided and Patton's auto continued into a yard, damaging the trash can of Dorothy Lakin, Rural Route Two, Box 712, witness said.

Mrs. Fulmer suffered injuries to her back and left knee and ankle and was released from St. Elizabeth Hospital after x-rays were taken.

However, when the pool was built, and even up until recent years, the system met the required standards."

Also at the June 8 meeting, board commissioners are to submit long-range plan suggestions. Specific projects include construction of two tennis courts at West Granite Park and four tennis courts at Worthing Park, due to continued growth in public interest in tennis.

A decision has been made by the board to close Triangle Park in West Granite, and to initiate a possible equal trade of its Tri-City Park Area property for a portion of a 19-acre tract of ground at an undisclosed location.

Noting that the water utility at this time supplies the water for necessary watering of Wilson Park the board is taking under advisement the possibility of repairing a water pump located in the flower garden and drilling a new well.

"We started using the citywide watering system when the present well failed to produce a sufficient amount to water the plants," Brown said.

"At the present time," he continued, "we have a monthly water bill in excess of $2,000 and a sewer fee around $3,000."

"Operating our own watering system might save us about 85 percent of that total amount."

Madison police to take 40 to Shrine circus

The Madison Police Department again this year will take 40 children to the Shrine Circus on Wednesday, June 8.

The first 40 children from Madison that telephone the police at 876-4300 and place their name on the list will be able to attend.

Chief of Police Donald Bridick is asking for four adults to volunteer to go with the children.

The bus will load at the police station parking lot at 6 p.m. and will return to the police station at approximately 11 p.m.

Report that labels may benefit Kidney Foundation untrue

In recent weeks many persons have contacted the Kidney Foundation of Eastern Missouri & Metro-East to request further information on how products labeled from nationally advertised brands of canned goods can be redeemed to benefit victims of kidney disease.

Although the Foundation is appreciative of the concern of individuals and groups, there has been no confirmation as to any value of these product code labels, a spokesman said.

The Kidney Foundation, which has made numerous attempts to trace this rumor and has found no legitimacy to this project, the spokesman said.

If the group or an individual is interested in finding out what types of projects are available to assist the Kidney Foundation in its battle against kidney disease, the spokesman said, they may contact: Kidney Foundation of Eastern Missouri & Metro-East, 7100 Brentwood, Clayton, Mo. 63105, or by calling (314) 863-5558.

Call special meeting to fill Venice school post

The Rev. Richard H. Bailey, president of the Venice Board of Education, set Thursday, June 8, for a special 7 p.m. meeting of the board to discuss the appointment of a member to fill the vacancy resulting from the resignation of Mrs. Jacqueline Leatherman.

The action was taken at last night's school board meeting after the appointment issue failed to arise during the regular session and was not discussed in executive caucus.

Discussion in the executive meeting focused on personnel problems and current negotiations with Venice Local 968, American Federation of Teachers.

Before the appointment of a new board member came up for review, Board Member John C. Boushara, a Granite City School Board member, was asked to resign, was required to leave the caucus at 10:30 p.m. to report for work and was replaced by an appointee to the board.

Twins accepted at medical and dental schools

David and Daniel Francis, both of Belleville, graduated as biology majors in May from Chicago State University. They were accepted to medical and dental schools.

David Francis graduated magna cum laude and number one in his class, having maintained a 4.0 straight A average throughout his four years.

He was given standing ovation by the 1977 graduating class for this achievement. His twin, Daniel, graduated magna cum laude with a 3.8 average. David has been accepted at the University of Illinois College of Medicine and Daniel Francis at the SIU Dental School.

board members Earl W. Hogan and Gerald D. Cicio also left the caucus.

Absence of three of the six board members produced a lack of quorum and negated further action by the board.

The Venice School Board has 30 days from the date Mrs. Leatherman's resignation was accepted to fill the vacancy by appointment.

Should the board be unable to agree on an appointee, Harry E. Briggs, superintendent of Madison County Education Service Region, is permitted by statute to call a special election to fill the post.

Four or five names were proposed by board members during the May 18 executive session, but a board member commented today that he hoped a special election will be necessary to fill the vacancy, as the members are deadlocked through the process.

News notes

Alton Tuesday evening and at St. Louis Wednesday.

Governor James Thompson will "roast" Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal at an O'Neal fund-raising event held at 5:30 at Pizazz Restaurant, Belleville. At 7 p.m. tomorrow, O'Neal will give the keynote talk at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant on Highway Three at a Madison County Republican Central Committee dinner.

Another issue which failed to be acted upon last night was the proposed cutback of pupil transportation by eliminating one of three buses.

The board members did approve the school calendar for 1977-78; authorized Supt. of Schools Robert E. Vickers to prepare the district budget for 1978-79; adopted a statement of board policies without discussion and approved the hiring of summer replacement teachers for Venice-Lincoln Technical Center and staff for the Head-Start summer program.

Competition will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday in a Trailriders Soccer Club show at the club arena on Chouteau Slough Road near Rock Road and the Chain of Rocks Canal levee.

Gov. Thompson said yesterday he will push for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment as "a matter of simple justice."

The Illinois Supreme Court yesterday ruled that voluntary intoxication by drugs or alcohol can serve as a defense for arson. The ruling was announced by the court's attorney Nicholas Byron on the decision as "a bigger burden" in seeking convictions. The high court another action upheld use of police dogs to sniff out marijuana in luggage.

Serve warrants from MEGSI

Cynthia Jones Mueller, 22, of 4711 Kirkpatrick Homes, and Deane Woods, 20, of 2164 Lee Ave., were arrested Tuesday afternoon and evening on warrants from the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGSI) alleging unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

The arrests stem from a recent MEGSI undercover drug investigation in this area. Cynthia Mueller was released after posting a $500 cash bond and Woods was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville in lieu of bond.

Trailer loaded with beer taken

A $6,000 trailer loaded with 20,000 to $10,000 worth of Budweiser beer was stolen from the parking lot of Puma Truck Sales at State Ad 111 and Arlington Drive near Arlington Heights, James Castelli, owner of the plaza, reported Tuesday.

Wm. Moore, Beallsville, left the trailer on the lot Friday and when he returned to get it Tuesday, he found it was gone. Castelli said he noticed it missing Tuesday morning, but thought some driver had taken the wrong trailer accidentally.

The FBI was notified since the 2,000 cases of beer in the trailer was an interstate shipment. The shipment was from Anheuser-Busch, Inc., St. Louis, and was bound for Chicago.

Auto plunges down embankment

James Clement, 43, of 24 Madison Park Drive, was injured when he lost control of his car on Interstate 270 at the east-bound Route 3 exit lane and the auto went down the steep embankment, overturning three to five times before coming to rest.

Ambulance personnel reported finding Clement sitting at the edge of the exit ramp. He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with a fractured right elbow and injuries to his chest and right shoulder.

Homecoming Sunday at New Hope Baptist

A Homecoming observance will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 4, at the New Hope Baptist Church, Rural Route Three and Moffitt Avenue, it was announced by the pastor.

Special musical entertainment will be furnished by the Lester Family of St. Louis.

Brake shoes stolen

About 440 used auto brake shoes with a total value of about $320 were stolen from the rear of Bennett Auto Supply, 2219 Madison Ave., between 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday. A hole was cut in the chain-link fence to gain entry to the rear yard.

Gov. James R. Thompson has signed legislation to create a Personnel Code system in the office of Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon, placing more than 3,000 employees under a hiring code based on merit principles. Prosely, 1,200 in the office are covered under the Illinois Personnel Code.

The Anna Mental Health and Developmental Center will not be converted to a medium security prison facility. Gov. Thompson said, adding that the site is not feasible for conversion due to a number of factors. The search for a state facility to convert for prison use will continue, he said.

Gov. Thompson has named 17 members to his Task Force on Citizens' Rights. The task force, chaired by Don Moss, executive director of the Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens, will investigate reports of child abuse in state institutions and state-run programs following allegations of abuse at the Windgate Home in Woodstock. It will report by June 15 on any misconduct by state agencies and staff involved in Windgate, and will investigate other state institutions and programs for the retarded to insure dignified and safe care.

The Appropriations Committee of the Illinois House of Representatives last week voted to halt state funding of the Illinois Information Service. In a 15-10 vote, the committee deleted the appropriation from the 1977-78 Department of General Services budget request. The move may be reversed in future House action.

'Superpass' on sale

Sales began this week throughout the metropolitan St. Louis area for "Superpass," a summer $1 weekly pass which allows the young people age 18 and under to unlimited rides on regular Bi-State Development Agency bus lines.

Purchasers of the first week Superpass, valid June 5 through June 12, will also receive a free Superpass iron-on patch.

The Superpass program will continue through Labor Day. Superpass, used by more than 7,000 persons each week last summer, permits the bearer to ride on an unlimited basis on regular Bi-State's 140 local Rapid, Express, Shopper Express and Orbis bus lines without having to pay base fares or additional zone or transfer charges.

It is not valid on Bi-State express routes to the St. Louis Shuttle, Race Track Express, Many Opera Express, Red Bird Express, Big Red Express and Six Flags Express. While in effect, Superpass will replace the 10-ride student ticket in Missouri and the Illinois Student Identification Card. Both of these programs will resume after Labor Day.

Regular Weekly Pass sales will continue throughout the summer, and Superpass will be sold by many of the regular Weekly Pass outlets, as well as by schools and various community organizations. Purchasers of Superpass will be asked to provide proof of age.

For information regarding Superpass, Quad-Cityans may call Bi-State at 876-4114.

The following is a listing of local outlets where Superpass is available:

Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, 1900 Edison Ave. First 10th St. Bank in Madison, 600 Madison Ave.

Adopt a pet Saturday at Nameoki Village

A purebred black Labrador retriever, a spayed 2-year-old beagle and several kittens will be among the pets being offered for adoption Saturday, from 10:30 a.m. until 4 p.m., by the Granite City Association for Protection of Animals (APA).

The pets may be adopted at the APA's small adoption shelter, located in Nameoki Village Shopping Center, adjacent to Gasen Drugs.

Animals eligible for adoption for a nominal fee, include: Three female puppies, 8 weeks old, half Irish setter and half German Shepherd.

Buttons, a 2-year-old spayed beagle, who has received all required shots and is playful, good with children, but is not a hunting dog.

King, a pedigreed black Labrador retriever, a 4-year-old male, who also has received all shots.

Tuky, a solid black spayed female cat; a 5-month-old female scallop Shamese, and an assortment of kittens, about 8 weeks old, both male and female, in orange, black and grey tiger striped and black and white.

APA officers said they have learned of a part-Boston terrier running loose, which is being fed by a local family. The dog is very timid and needs a good home, the officer said. Anyone interested in adopting the animal may inquire at the adoption shelter on Saturday.

The local APA still is making plans to build its own shelter facility when sufficient funds become available, the officer said. To help boost the fund, the group is tentatively planning a toll road project this month.

Donations also may be made to the APA at P.O. Box 1311, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

Exit interviews

Students who will be graduating from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville must conduct an "exit interview" if they received a National Direct Student Loan (NDSL). It was noted today.

Betty Volz of the Bursar's Office said federal regulations require that an exit interview be conducted.

She added that graduating students may be eligible for "various cancellations and deferments." More information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Volz in the Bursar's Office or calling 692-3000.

Flowery commencements in Illinois a century ago

June 1877 was a month of damaging tornadoes and flowery commencements for Illinois.

A check of century-old newspaper files in the Illinois State Historical Library shows that the papers also followed the travels of former President Ulysses S. Grant, who was just beginning a year-long world tour.

The month's earliest tornado hit Mt. Carmel, which the Springfield State Journal described as "one of those bright, cheerful little towns peculiar to Illinois (with) a population of about 3,000, orderly, well-conducted people, located on the west bank of the Wabash River, on a high bluff."

The story of the storm itself read, in part: "The air was filled with a mighty noise, like the rolling of waves high up on the shore. The terrified inhabitants saw a mighty one."

"It must have been 1,000 feet in height, and first was noticed at a distance of a mile and a quarter west."

It passed through the center of town "leaving a path of death and ruin behind it, like unto the marks of the hand of Omnipotence when raised in anger."

The storm cut a swath 800 feet wide, destroying 14 of the town's 56 blocks — including the main business section.

The number of people killed was estimated at 20 to 25 and the number of "wounded" was "probably 70 to 80." The property loss was put at "not short of $500,000" by the Chicago Inter Ocean.

Among the buildings destroyed were the courthouse — its 500-lb. bell was hurled across Main Street, "40 feet in the teeth of the storm" — the Presbyterian Church and "Stein & Wilson's pop factory."

"Men, women and children were blown a distance of 400 feet." A little girl was toppled into a well on the school grounds and rescued by the principal, and "Mrs. Paynter was blown into a tree."

Cyclones later in the month were more widespread and farther north in the state.

Both the Daily Quincy Herald and the Springfield Journal reported that "hailstones as big as hen's eggs" fell at Moline — golf balls were not available for comparison a hundred years ago.

The Fairbury Methodist Church was demolished, trains were blown off the tracks, and the Dixon fairground buildings were destroyed. But the principal damage was to grain crops and fruit trees.

The 1877 high school and college graduating classes followed the pattern of the times — in the former, girls far outnumbered the boys, but the reverse was true in the colleges and universities.

Quincy High School graduated an all-girl class of 14; Morris High School, 10 girls and one boy; Englewood High School, 11 girls and seven boys; West Division High School, Chicago, 105 girls, 23 boys; and Springfield High School, 16 girls and 12 boys.

The State Industrial University at Urbana (now the University of Illinois) graduated 30 men and 11 women — nine of the women were from Champaign or Urbana.

At the University of Chicago, 23 men and two women received degrees. And at Northwestern University, the numbers were 29 men and two women; there had been 94 in their freshman class.

Two features of all commencement exercises a century ago were speeches by the graduates and gifts of flowers.

Unless the class was too large, each member read his or her essay, and then bouquets would be "thrown, tossed or carried on the stage," sometimes practically filling it.

General and Mrs. Grant were visiting England that June and Illinois papers followed them closely.

When Queen Victoria invited them to her castle, the Inter Ocean headed its two-and-a-half-column story simply "Windsor Castle." But the State Journal was slightly less formal, with a line reading "Ulysses and Vic."

Amvets Post 51 leads service

Amvets Post 51 and Auxiliary held Memorial Day services on the lawn of the City Hall in Granite City, with John Logan, post commander, and Mrs. Marge Smith, auxiliary president, in charge. About 20 persons attended.

Presentation of the colors was conducted by Adam Petras, Amvets 25th District commander; Jackie Petras, Department of Illinois sergeant-at-arms; and Glenda Brockman, Auxiliary Division 5 president.

A wreath was placed by Logan and flags were positioned on either side of the Amvets memorial plaque by Mrs. Smith. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Trudy McGowan, chaplain.

Flags were placed on the standards along Madison Avenue by members of Post 51 at dawn and removed at dusk the same day.

The veterans' organization was escorted by police department personnel and used a city-owned truck to erect the flags, Logan said.

the meeting on a fourth Tuesday is traced to ordinance approved in 1961. That ordinance was carried over into council rules in an ordinance passed to change regular council meetings from Monday nights to Tuesday nights.
Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward, an attorney, challenged the council's authority to act on regular business because it was the fourth Tuesday. He contended the council was violating the law if it approved any major business.
Farmler took exception and noted that the council needed to approve bills as well as a bond for the city treasurer to collect taxes and to transfer funds so that claims for the month could be paid.
When Douglas persisted in his stand, Mayor Schuler said he would entertain a motion to adjourn.
The adjournment motion was declared carried on a voice vote, ending the meeting 52 minutes after its beginning.

City Clerk John Belleoff was re-designated as the city's representative on the Tri-City Regional Port District Board. Belleoff currently is chairman of the port board. His term as a Madison member of the board expired June 1.
The aldermen also enacted an ordinance condemning a two-story brick building at 415 Madison Ave. Elmer Smith, superintendent of streets, was given permission to advertise for bids for asphalt to continue the paving of alleys started last year. They also approved bills of $26,718 for the period from May 16 through May 31.

Hospital Auxiliary scholarships

Nine young women are the recipients of scholarship awards granted by the St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary to young persons in study programs concerned with nursing and allied health fields.

Mrs. Margaret Lee, scholarship chairman for the auxiliary, said the $325 grants may be applied toward tuition, textbooks, uniforms, dormitory fees or uniforms.

The award recipients for 1977 are:

- Jana Tricia Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simmons;
- Vicki Lynn Welty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Welty;
- Gail Rene Veizer, daughter of Granite City Police Chief and Mrs. Ronald J. Veizer;
- Linda Kay Wiesehan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Wiesehan;
- Jo Marie DeRuntz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James DeRuntz;
- Melinda Ann Stevens, daughter of Mr. Elizabeth Ann Stevens;
- Enid Michele Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Cox;
- Glenda Irene Calvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Calvin;
- and Elaine Marie Horbelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Horbelt.

The individual scholarship awards are available to area residents enrolled in programs of study for any of 200 allied health fields, including dietetics, inhalation therapy, medical records, library science, medical social work, nursing, medical technology, occupational or physical therapy, x-ray technology, dental hygienist and veterinary technician.

Selection of the school is determined by the recipient and may be located outside the state of Illinois, Mrs. Lee said. She pointed out, however, that the school must be an accredited or a recognized educational institution.

The scholarships were formally presented to the winners at the St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary's general membership meeting by Mrs. Lee and by Mrs. Fran Holt and Mrs. Roberta Fecher, committee members.

Parents of the grant winners attended the event to view the presentations.

Mrs. J. Kassy Hagauer, auxiliary president, was in charge of the meeting and welcomed the 32 members and 17 guests.

She reminded those attending that the primary source of the funds to provide scholarships and support other endeavors of the group is through sales and services at the Auxiliary Coffee and Gift Shop, located on the ground floor level at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The auxiliary also is assisting financially in the redecorating program of the hospital's Rinney Wing by furnishing wall coverings and draperies, among other projects, Mrs. Hagauer said.

The scholarship awardees and their backgrounds are:

- Glenda Irene Calvin, 17, who is entering Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville as a freshman this fall and her goal is to become a medical technologist.
- She is a May 1977 graduate of Granite City High School North, where she was active in the Science and Social Studies clubs, served as secretary of the National Honor Society and was a member of the Girls' Glee Club, Contando and Advanced Mixed Chorus.
- She worked in the Guidance and Attendance offices as a chemistry laboratory assistant at high school.
- She received the General Mills family leader of tomorrow award in January and the youth citizenship award from the Metro-Soroptimist International club in February.
- She is active in her church, teaches Sunday school, serves as bus secretary and was a first administrator for two years at camp during the summer months.
- Enid Michele Cox, 18, a recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution's good citizenship award this year. She will enter the School of Nursing at St. Luke's Hospital in late summer.
- She graduated at Granite City High School South the past weekend. She was a member of the National Honor Society from 1975-1977 and the Modern Music Masters during the same years.
- She is employed part-time as a music instructor at the National School of Music and is active in her church, serving as a Sunday school teacher and pianist and as a member of the Youth Council and choir.
- Jo Marie DeRuntz, A senior this year at Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing, she is planning to earn her degree after she becomes a registered nurse. Presently, she is securing clinical experience by working part-time at Deaconess Hospital.
- In high school, Miss DeRuntz, 19, was an active officer in the volunteer candy stripper. She also was employed at the Granite City K-Mart store.

Jana Tricia Simmons, 20, became a registered nurse at the age of 19 and will start her senior year of nursing at St. Louis University this fall. She earned her high school diploma at age 16, carrying an "A" average.

After obtaining her bachelor of science degree in nursing, she is planning to attain her master's degree in the field of public health and psychiatry.

She is employed at St. Elizabeth Hospital and had previous experience working at Scott Air Force Base Hospital, Belleville, and St. Clement's Hospital, Red Bud.

Rainfall above normal in May

Total rainfall of 2.73 inches during the last four days of May brought the month's total precipitation to 4.40 inches, or .27 of an inch more than the normal May rainfall of 3.73 inches, according to weather records at the Chain of Rocks Locks.

The May precipitation of 4.40 inches followed a dry April in which only .70 of an inch of rain fell during the entire month. This was 3.01 inches below normal April rainfall.

Regardless of the dry period in April, the May rainfall and that of 6.72 inches that occurred in March, kept the total precipitation for the year thus far above normal.

Total precipitation this year through May totaled 14.88 inches, compared to a normal of 13.80 inches for the same period.

Most of the rainfall during May occurred on two days—a fall of 1.27 inches on May 7, and 2.40 inches that fell in a matter of a few hours on May 28 during an early morning storm.

Rain also fell on six other days of last month, including .18 of an inch on May 2, .08 of an inch on May 4, .25 of an inch on May 5, .02 of an inch on May 17, .13 of an inch on May 20, and 21 of an inch on May 31.

Monthly rainfall so far this year, with the normal precipitation in parenthesis, includes: January 1.02 inches (1.98); February 2.04 inches (2.04); March 6.72 inches (2.54); April .70 of an inch (3.71); and May 4.40 inches (3.73).

St. Peter's to celebrate Church School day Sunday

Church School Day will be celebrated Sunday at St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard. During the 10:15 a.m. worship service, teachers, helpers and officers of the church school will be honored along with the Board of Christian Education. Pupils will attend class at 9 a.m. to make final preparations for their room arrangements for the "open house" following the worship. Families are asked to sit together for the worship service. After the service, tour guides will take groups from the congregation on a visit to the church school classrooms, terminating the tour in Fellowship Hall where refreshments will be served by the Christian Fellowship Club, Mrs. Catherine Cornelison, president.

The tour guides are Duward Cook, Walter Volkmar, Robert Braundmeier, Mrs. Rosalie Buente, Mrs. Dorothy Luaders, Mrs. Louise Favier and Mrs. Dorothy Kinney. Church School teachers and helpers being honored are: Lisa Wright, Mrs. Carol Grebel, Mrs. Joyce Combs, Mrs. Ann Mason, Diana Anderson, Kevin Hayes, Lee and JoAnn Noe, Maryellen

Knobloch, Mrs. Helen Kettelhut, Mrs. Connie Kraus, and officers, Mrs. Dorothy Kinney, superintendent; Mrs. Judy Werthe, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Linda Watson, secretary and Mrs. Nina Volkmar, treasurer. The members of the Board of Christian Education are: Duward Cook, chairman; Mrs. Louise Favier, secretary; Mrs. Helen Kettelhut, Mrs. Nina Fisher, the Church School superintendent and the pastor, St. Peter Church offers a complete church school program every Sunday with classes for 3-year-olds to adults. Child care also is provided for teachers and parents attending the adult class during the 9 a.m. Church hour. The church school curriculum seeks to help children and adults to a deeper understanding of the meaning of the biblical faith for their lives today, a school official said. Under the supervision of the Board of Christian Education, all classrooms are being redecorated and some new equipment is being purchased. Volunteer workers plan to complete most of the work in time for Sunday's activities.

In addition to honoring the teachers and staff during this Sunday's worship, the members of the three children's choirs will be given special recognition as they provide music for the service for the last time this season. The Cherub Choir, under the direction of Miss Diana Anderson and the Junior Choir and Junior High Handbell Choirs under the direction of Dr. Robert Hutcheson will sing and play.

JULY BRIDE-ELECT. Miss Joyce White whose engagement to John Motes is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie White, 4137 Pontoon Road. A July 2 wedding is planned.

Joyce White is engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie White, 4137 Pontoon Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Joyce White to John Motes.

The prospective groom is a son of Mrs. Shirley Motes, 2421 Washington Ave., and the late John D. Motes.

Miss White graduated from Granite City High School North in 1976, and is currently engaged in child care.

Her fiancé is a 1974 graduate of South High School and is working at State Radio and Television Co.

The engaged couple are completing plans for a July 2 wedding to take place at the Church of Christ, 2190 Clark Ave.

Shower honors Mrs. Innes

Mrs. Sandra Noth Innes was honored at a personal wedding shower given Tuesday evening by Mrs. Margie Tarasovich in her home, 7056 Meadowlane Drive.

Several games were played after the guest of honor opened her gifts.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Mesdames Mary Noth, Marie Noth, Sharon Parker, Mary Ann Skowron, Mary Beth Chomko and daughters, Vanessa and Jessica, Diane Vivod, Sandy Peterson, Peggy Stiver and daughter, Sandy, Donna Mueller and daughter Beth Ann, Betty James, Shirley Betts, Miss Carol Noth, Miss Melissa Tarasovich.

Mrs. Innes will be married to Robert C. Davis on June 10 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Boy Scouts earn summer camp fee

Boy Scout Troop 5, sponsored by the Nameok United Methodist Church, has a novel method of helping their scouts earn their own way to a week-long campout at Camp Sunnen, this month.

The troop has been conducting paper drives every two months to raise funds for troop needs.

Proceeds from the last three paper drives however, are being credited to each scout taking part. It is expected that, this way, each boy will earn at least $25 of the total $85 camp fee.

The final paper drive is set for Saturday, June 4. A container will be on the north side of the old Grants store.

Butterfly Club fetes Mrs. Hoff

Mrs. Harriet Hoff was honored on her birthday at a meeting of the Butterfly Club held Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Theima Schmidt, 2005 Clark Ave.

The honoree received gifts from the group and her secret pal, followed by pinocchio games. Those excelling in the games and winning prizes were Mesdames Lorraine Melvov, Edith Ryan, Harriet Hoff and Nell Talley.

Mrs. Schmidt used a picnic motif for her table decorations and served a dessert luncheon to those mentioned and to Mesdames Mary Lou Claussen, Janita Rosenberg, Irene Willis and Katie Hommert. Mrs. Hommert will entertain for the next meeting.

BOAT, TRAILER TAKEN

A 16-foot aluminum boat worth $500, a $1,200 engine and a $300 boat trailer were stolen from a home in the 2400 block of Denver St., the owner, Doyle Miller, 2013 Richmond Ave., reported Tuesday. Fishing equipment and other contents from the boat were thrown in the yard and a fishing knife was stuck in a tree.

Rev. Dutton presents Devotions

The Rev. Eugene Dutton gave the devotional lesson taken from the book of Matthew, at a luncheon meeting of the Friendly Agers Club at the Second Baptist Church.

Jack Cavins led the opening prayer and hymns were sung by the members. Other musical selections were by Mrs. Alice Hoffman, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garin, accompanied at the piano by Jack Jenkins. A reading entitled, "A Prayer for Every Day" was read by Mrs. Naomi Rongey.

Mrs. Mina Duggins welcomed three guests, Mrs. Margaret Dutton, Betty Lewis and Donald Mayberry.

Officers reports were submitted during the business session and cards were signed for Mrs. Lena Bonnavar, a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital and Mrs. Edith Wilson, who is recuperating at home.

Members discussed taking a trip to the Chevrolet plant in St. Louis on June 20.

Closing meditations were by Rev. Dutton. Five dinners were taken to shut-ins and a pot luck luncheon was enjoyed by 27 members and guests.

Johnson-Giger engagement

The engagement of Miss Debra E. Giger and Terry L. Johnson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Johnson, 4551 Waller Ave., is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Air Force Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Joachim J. Giger, 1404 Salem Drive, Belleville.

Miss Giger graduated in 1973 from Belleville East High School and is employed as a respiratory therapist at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Granite City.

The groom-elect is a 1975 Granite City High School North graduate and is an employee of Granite City Steel.

Plans are being completed by the engaged couple and their families for a July 9, wedding to be celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral in Belleville.

Kesterson-Taake wedding at St. Paul's Lutheran

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Troy, provided the setting for the April 30 wedding of Miss JoAnn Taake and Jim F. Kesterson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Taake of Troy and the groom is the son of Mrs. Eileen Kesterson and John D. Kesterson, of Granite City.

Dr. Erwin Kolb performed the double ring ceremony. Carl Schulte, accompanied by Neva Peterson, sang "Whither Thou Goest," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Judy Edwards served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joan Eberhart and Vickie Campbell.

Serving as best man was Terry Berger. Groomsmen were Larry Taake, brother of the bride, and Kevin Kesterson, brother of the groom. Guests were seated by Bob Conway and Terry Lyons, cousin of the bride. Tim Kesterson, brother of the groom, was the candlelighter.

Flower girl was Jan Lyons and ringbearer was Mark Taake, both godchildren of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pure silk organza with high standing collar and Empire bodice trimmed with Venise lace. Her full bishop sleeves had applied motifs in the sleeves and the wide cuffs banded in daisy lace.

Her lace headpiece was attached to a fingertip veil of French bridal illusion. She carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses and white carnations.

The bridesmaids and flower girl wore gowns of apricot knit with the maid of honor wearing peach. All attendants wore printed sheer capes complementing their high neck, sleeveless gowns. They carried baskets of yellow, white and peach daisies.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Taake chose a yellow floor length chiffon over taffeta gown with Empire waist, highlighted by sequined braiding around the neck, wrist and bodice.

Mrs. Kesterson chose a sleeveless mint green floor length chiffonette over taffeta gown with capitol.

The reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Edwardsville for 200 guests. Assisting were Mrs. Doris Lyons, Mrs. Ruth Anne Lyons, and Mrs. Carol Campbell, cousins of the bride, Miss Jan Hentzel attended the guest book.

The bride, a graduate of Triad High School, is employed by Ralston Purina Co., St. Louis. The groom, a graduate of Granite City Senior High School, is employed by Laclede Steel, Alton, Ill.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple is residing in Granite City.

Jennifer VanMeter and Mark W. Baugh are wed

Miss Jennifer R. VanMeter and Mark W. Baugh were united in marriage on April 30 in a candlelight ceremony at Faith Chapel, Mitchell.

Burning tapers in branched candelabra festooned with clusters of pink, yellow and blue flowers, illuminated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. James McKneely.

Gary Bushy presided at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Carol McKneely as she sang, "We're Only Just Begun," "My Sweet Lady" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Brian Hartwick and Dan Reagan served as candelabers.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Lee Mitcherson, 2516 Madison Ave., and Charles VanMeter, 4912 Orange Blossom Court, Hazelwood, Mo. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William Baugh, 832 Ashland Ave., Mitchell.

For her wedding the bride chose a full length gown fashioned of silk organza and an Empire bodice of Venice lace, etched with seed pearls and designed with a V-neckline. Long full sheer sleeves were accented with lace motifs and cuffed with matching lace.

The slightly full A-line organza skirt extended into a full chapel train.

Her elbow length veil was held in place with a forward headpiece of Venice lace flowers, seed pearls and crystal tear drop accents. She held a colonial bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and touches of greenery, tied with white satin streamers.

Miss Chris Kramer, maid of honor, wore a pink organza Southern Belle style gown with a Venice lace inset yoke, cap sleeves and gathered skirt, worn over a hoop.

Bridesmaids, Miss Mary Hugins and Miss Donna Carlisle appeared in identically designed dresses in yellow and blue, respectively.

Each attendant wore a matching picture hat and held a colonial arrangement of daisies in shades to match their gowns, intermingled with baby's breath.

Connie Baugh, a sister of the groom, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a white frock and held a nosegay of pink, yellow and blue daisies.

Jeff Simpson, the bride's nephew, served as the ringbearer.

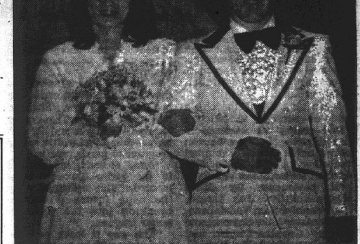

The groom chose Perry Hartwick as his best man. Andy and Rusty Baugh, brothers of the groom, Jack Jones, and Dave Worley, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Christy Null attended the guest book at a reception held at the Long Lake Fireman's Hall.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Granite City High School North and the groom was graduated in 1974 from North High School. He is now employed as a machinist for National Marine Co., Hartford.

They are now residing in Granite City.

MR. AND MRS. MARK BAUGH. They exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony at Faith Chapel, Mitchell. Formerly Miss Jennifer R. VanMeter, the bride is a daughter of Mrs. Lee Mitcherson of Granite City, and Charles VanMeter of Hazelwood, Mo.

Busy summer of baseball for Mitchell area boys and girls

Summer-long baseball competition for Mitchell area boys and girls is set to start this weekend on Mitchell diamonds sponsored by the Mitchell Athletic Club.

More than 200 of the club's athletes paraded to Mitchell Field during the weekend to participate in pre-season ceremonies which included crowning of the club's 1977 queen, Theresa Susan VanHorn, and comments by State Representative Joe Lucero, State Senator Sam Vadalabene, Sportscenter Mike Shannon and former Granite Cityan and major league player Dal Maxvill.

Rep. Lucero stressed to parents of players the importance of letting their youngsters grow up fast.

"Don't force them to grow up too fast."

"Give them time to develop into champions," he added.

Son, Vadalabene expressed delight at the club's program, which includes both girls and boys.

"There are few organizations nationwide that have athletic programs for both sexes," he commented.

Noting that he was making his third annual appearance at the pre-season activity, Shannon told the athletes, "Thank you coaches, managers and the club for providing you with a sports program to participate in."

"And," directing his remarks to the girls, Shannon commented, "I'm anticipating in the near future a woman breaking into the baseball major leagues."

Maxvill, breaking away momentarily from autograph seekers who surrounded him throughout the ceremonies, said, "I'm glad girls are involved in sports here."

"I'm looking forward to visiting from time to time and attending some of your games."

Eighteen girls' teams comprise three divisions headed by Director Alice Reber. They will start their season next Monday, June 6, on the Mitchell diamonds.

The three divisions are: Sophomores, born from 1961 to 1963; Chic, born from 1964 to 1966; and Petite, born from 1967 to 1970.

Myron Merz, director of the boys' program, noted there are 20 teams in four divisions — Atom, Bantam, Midget and Juvenile.

TODAY, June 2

NATIONAL PRO-STOCK CHAMPION. Bill "Grumpy" Jenkins of Pennsylvania will be among the nation's top drag race drivers to converge at St. Louis International Raceway this weekend to vie for top honors in the seventh annual American Hot Rod Association-sanctioned Gateway Nationals. Jenkins has piloted this Chevrolet Monza down the quarter-mile asphalt strip at speeds in excess of 157 miles per hour.

Hustle award to Crowder

James Crowder of Madison won the 1977 hustle award at Lincoln College, Lincoln, Ill. 30 miles northeast of Springfield. The award is presented to the basketball player who demonstrates the most team spirit throughout the season. He is the son of Mrs. Lillie B. Crowder, 311 Terry St.

Gateway Nationals this weekend attracting 500 race cars, drivers

The spring season brings many major auto racing events to this metropolitan area, and this weekend St. Louis International Raceway near Madison will again host one of the biggest — the seventh annual American Hot Rod Association Gateway Nationals Friday through Sunday.

Many top names in drag racing will come to St. Louis International starting tomorrow to compete in the second phase of the 1977 AHRA grand American points championship series.

Victors in the Gateway Nationals accumulate points which could carry them to lucrative AHRA points finals at the end of the season.

More than $150,000 in awards has been posted for the Gateway competition.

Last year, more than 47,000 spectators crammed into St. Louis International for the 1976 Gateway Nationals. This year, even more are expected for the three-day event and the new track manager and promoter, Phil Trover, is upgrading track facilities for the expected crowd.

Included are camping areas and a complete restaurant and cocktail lounge on the track grounds.

Also available are archery and trap shooting, which are open all season. Camping will be free with the purchase of each ticket during the Gateway Nationals.

The Gateway Nationals is known in the Midwest as one of the few major meets where the crowds can witness the professionals of drag racing at work.

Drag racing consists of quarter-mile straight-line races in which two cars compete at once.

The fastest cars in drag racing, the top-fuel dragsters, attain speeds of up to 250 miles an hour at the end of the quarter mile, and can cover the distance in a little less than six seconds.

Drag racing has often been described as a "carnival of color and sound" — not to mention money. A top fuel dragster can cost as much as $50,000 to build, with the engine supercharged and fueled on nitro-methane — costing nearly $30,000.

The action is fast-paced, with the cars appearing as screaming blurs of color and parachutes connected to the rear of the vehicles slow them from their fast sprints.

Appearing at the Gateway Nationals in the top fuel class will be such drivers as Clive Skilton, the current champion from England, and a two-time national champion, Gary Beck from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

BEAUTIES AND THE BEAST. These two girls serve as representatives of national driving champion Raymond Beadle and his famed "Blue Max" funny car which will compete at speeds of more than 225 miles per hour this weekend at the St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison.

Beck is the second fastest driver in the sport after recording a time of 5.69 seconds at over 249 m.p.h. in Ontario, Calif.

Also appearing will be funny cars, which are basically shortened top fuel dragsters with one-piece fiberglass bodies, resembling family cars.

The cars are wildly painted and achieve times in the low six-second bracket at speeds of nearly 240 m.p.h.

Appearing in the funny car class will be 1976 AHRA world champion funny car driver Tom Hoover, from Minneapolis, Minn., driving the "Showtime" Chevrolet Monza; Eddie Pickett, driving Johnny Lopez's Monza from Tucson; national champion Raymond Beadle, driving the famed "Blue Max" Mustang II from Texas; and last year's Gateway funny car runnerup, Bob Pickett of Los Angeles, driving Mickey Thompson's U.S. Marine-sponsored Buick Starfire.

Pickett achieved 6.57 seconds at 225 m.p.h. last year in losing to Shirl Greer of Georgia.

Another category is pro-comp eliminator, in which dragsters and funny cars compete against each other. The pro-comp machines, however, are fueled on alcohol rather than nitro-methanol.

Appearing will be St. Louisian Bob McCosh in his alcohol dragster. He has been at St. Louis International tuning his car in preparation for the meet, and has gone as fast as 7.89 seconds in the quarter-mile.

Another crowd-pleasing class is pro-stock eliminator. Pro-stock cars look like family cars, but are powered by engines which develop more than 700 horsepower. The top-fuel dragsters develop close to 2,000 horsepower.

Appearing will be multi-national champion Bill "Grumpy" Jenkins, one of the best-known drivers in motorsports. He will be on hand with his "Grumpy's Toy" Chevrolet Monza.

Jenkins has gone as fast as 8.49 seconds at 159 m.p.h. using only carburetors and gasoline.

Also appearing will be Ken Dondoro in the Gapp and Roush Ford Pinto.

Joking and Gapp were the finalists at last year's Gateway Nationals, with Jenkins emerging the winner. Along with Gapp will be St. Louis area favorites Jerry Haas and Rich Thomas, both in Chevrolet Vegas.

Along with these classes, more than 300 other classes of racing machines, including everything from dragsters to motorcycles to showroom stock cars, will compete under AHRA rules during the event. More than 500 cars are expected to compete.

Spectator ticket prices are $5 tomorrow and $6 on Saturday and Sunday. Children under 12 are free.

Tri-City Legionnaires open with 2-0 victory

Tri-City Legion Post 113's baseball team travels to Trenton at 1 p.m. Saturday for doubleheader action with a host Legion team, and then start its District 22 American Legion league schedule Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Mitchell diamond against Glen Carbon Post 435.

Post 113 mentor Conrad "Baby" Champion has expressed satisfaction over the Legionnaires' 2-0 shutout win Tuesday of a Brentwood, Mo., Legion squad in an exhibition contest played here.

"Paul Evans," he commented, "has maintained his winning form on the mound."

Evans this season as a GCHS Souths hurler matched his previous year's Legion pitching record of 10 wins against two losses.

The athlete pitched a two-hitter against Brentwood, walking two batters, and fanned eight.

Tri-City scored in the fourth and sixth innings, with two outs on each occasion.

In the sixth, Randy Smith

State girls' softball meet entries include Comanches

Eight survivors from a field of 29 which entered tournament series play will converge on Mineral Springs Park, Ferge, today and Friday for the second annual Illinois High School Association girls' state final softball tournament.

Four quarterfinal games are scheduled to be played today, with two semifinal contests set for Friday morning and the championship game to be played under the lights, beginning at 7 p.m. Friday.

Season tickets priced at $5 went on sale at Pekin High School prior to the start of the tournament. Single-session tickets will be on sale at the gates of Mineral Springs Park before the start of each session. They are priced at $2 each.

Pairings for the state meet today are Joliet (West) (19-3) vs. Hickory Park (Czech South) (15-6), Quincy (Sr.) (24-1) vs. Winnetka (New Trier East) (14-1), a 2 p.m. game of Washington (13-3) or Pontiac (15-1) vs. Deerfield (11-1) and a 4:30 p.m. contest with Herrin (18-1) meeting Cahokia (16-0).

On Friday, winners of Game No. 1 and Game No. 2 will meet at 9 a.m., and winners of No. 3 and 4 at 11:30 a.m.

Richton Park (Rich South) captured the initial tournament last year with a 3-0 decision over Tremont.

Mechanically-sound cars help make local competition close

Late model and sportsman division stock car racing will enter an eighth Saturday of competition on Tri-City Speedway's half-mile dirt oval with the top spot in late model division standings still up for grabs. Racing events will start at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

A clean sweep to victory in every racing event by any of the six drivers heading the late model class could move a driver into the top spot, providing the other leaders fail to place in strong finishing positions.

East Alton's C.C. Corbin heads the field with 860 points, defending track tilist Russ Wallace of Arnold, Mo., is second with 820 and Wil Spalding of Ponton Beach third with 820.

Jerry Sifford of Imperial, Mo., is fourth with 790, Bill Myers of Rosewood Heights, Ill., fifth with 740 and Larry Stromer of Grand Island, Neb., sixth with 665 points.

Spalding, a former three-time late model division Tri-City champion, attributes the closeness in the point standings to "a more equal field of competitive race cars."

"An example is myself," said the Ponton Beach resident.

"Last year I couldn't keep the car's engine together."

"I finished only one feature race all season, having blown the engine the other times."

He said switching to a different brand race car has helped, and mechanic Charles Cairns has been instrumental in keeping the car in top mechanical condition.

"The other drivers are as fortunate this season as I am, and that is why no one driver is dominating the races."

Chicago's Jim O'Connor opened the season here with a main event win, followed in order by feature race winners Tom Helfrich, Kenny Schrader, Spalding, Sifford twice and Myers last weekend.

Ironically, Corbin and Wallace have yet to claim a main event checkered flag, but have held onto their top spots in the standings with consistent finishes in the top five positions.

Commenting on his attempt last Saturday to join Sifford as a two-time feature race winner,

Spalding said, "Myers got out of the pick in a hurry while the rest of us with equally fast cars were held up in traffic."

"Bill is out to win just like the rest of us, so he certainly wouldn't just move over and let us slip past."

Grate Cityans occupy the top five positions in the sportsman division, headed by Dean Aerné with 1,190 points.

Jerry Zehnle has 900 points, Gary Barker 800, Paul Humphreie 740 and last weekend's main event victor Harold Brynes, 715.

Inter-City league action at Wilson Park, 3 other sites

A full slate of baseball doubleheaders faces the eight participating teams of the Illinois Inter-City League on Sunday for a sixth straight week, all twinbills starting at 1 p.m.

The Music Room Vans hold down the number one spot in league standings with a 9-1 record, and Mercer Mortuary and Mitchell Athletic Club are deadlocked in second place with 8-2 records.

Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary is 4-4, Highland-Pierson and East Alton Brewers each 4-6, J&J Liquors is 1-9 and Panama is winless after eight games.

J&J hosts Panama Sunday on Fletcher Field at Collinsville. High School's Greenwood Camps. The Vans meanwhile take on Thomas at Wilson Park's diamond one.

Mitchell Athletic Club travels to East Alton's VanPreter Park to play the Brewers, and Mercer is at Highland-Pierson.

While each squad seriously seeks to improve its win-loss record with each playing date, the competition also provides humorous or unusual moments for fans and players.

Ron Madden, manager of the Mitchell team, recalls the first game of this week's twin bill with Panama. Both games were won by Mitchell, by scores of 5-2 and 4-3.

"We were ahead 5-0 with Panama up to bat in the seventh frame," Madden noted.

"A Panama batter had just collected his team's first hit of the game off pitcher Jon Henke, a broken bat single, when Mike McCullen stepped to the plate."

Henke yielded three hits in the game.

Madden continued, "Following about half a dozen foul balls, McCullen connected with the ball, sending it sailing toward the centerfield fence, where Ed Pragma was positioned."

"Pragma went back for the ball, hit the fence going backwards, did a complete backward flip and landed on the ground on the other side of the fence just as the ball went off the end of his glove, resulting in Panama setting a two-run homer."

"Ed got up staggering in a bit of a dazed condition," concluded Madden, "and all he could ask was 'Did it go over? Did it go over?'"

Series ends SIUE season at 25-18-1

Even though the Cougars' baseball team was eliminated in two games in the Little World Series of College Baseball at Springfield (NCAA division II) during the weekend, the season was nevertheless a success for Coach Roy E. Lee and his charges.

Finishing with a 25-18-1 record and as one of the nation's top eight teams is no little accomplishment for the Cougars, fans contend. Of course, the two losses at Springfield were bitter for both Lee and his Cougars. In both games, SIUE held what appeared to be safe leads, only to lose.

The loss to the University of Missouri-St. Louis was particularly galling. Leading 5-2 at the end of five innings with southpaw Steve Ashby apparently coasting, and still ahead 5-3 after seven complete frames, SIUE let UM-SL erupt for six runs to grab the game.

In a 5-4 loss to Delta State, the Cougars behind the three-hit pitching of Sam Pastrovich appeared to have earned at least one more day in the tournament. With a 4-0 lead, the Mt. Oliver rightlander appeared in complete control. He got the first man up in the last inning to pop up to short.

The next batter hit a routine grounder to short, but the throw was wide although the official scorer ruled it a "hit."

The next batter connected for a legitimate hit, and Pastrovich walked the next. This brought in Jerry Deml, whose second pitch got by Calcher Greg McBride.

Then, with two outs and runners on first and third, Deml picked the runner off first and, in the rundown, the man on third broke toward the plate. The throw was wild and the score was tied. Mike Deerman's liner to left brought in the winning run.

"Ed got up staggering in a bit of a dazed condition," concluded Madden, "and all he could ask was 'Did it go over? Did it go over?'"

Busy pace for Post 435

Manager Art Jovi's player roster for his Glen Carbon American Legion Post 435 baseball team looks like a page out of GCHS North's sports book with a sprinkling of four players from Roxana and one from Edwardsville added.

Comprised mostly of Steelers, Jovi's Legionnaires seek their first win of the season today at Wilson Park's diamond one in an exhibition contest at six o'clock with the Alton Legion.

The club faces a strenuous schedule this weekend, also hosting Trenton at 6 p.m. tomorrow at Wilson Park for a twinbill and then taking on Tri-City Post 113 Sunday in a 2 p.m. contest at the Mitchell diamond.

Glen Carbon travels to Citizen Park in Belleville on Monday, June 6, for an 8 p.m. game with the American Legion squad there.

North High senior David Wood is slated for mound duty this evening, and Steelers Kevin Ragen and Mike Hubbard will see action in tomorrow's twinbill with Trenton.

Terry Page is to go against Tri-City Post 113 and Jeff Hamilton is to pitch Monday against the Belleville club.

Jovi notes that Wood has played a lot of Granite City Park District league baseball but the rightlander has never participated in high school ball.

"Hamilton," said Jovi, "has been used in relief. For a junior, he throws the ball unusually hard and has a lot of confidence."

The Glen Carbon nine has dropped three exhibition contests thus far this year.

Voluntary landfill suspensions sought

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, at the suggestion of Governor James R. Thompson, is contacting 11 major shippers of special and hazardous wastes to request that they voluntarily suspend, until after June 15, shipments to the Earthline sanitary landfill at Wilsonville.

"The move is being made to assist in providing a calm and judicious atmosphere for the commencement of the court proceedings which are scheduled to start in Macoupin County on June 6. The Illinois EPA is attempting to limit the amount of material from out of state through this action, and we are only contacting major out-of-state companies at this time," said Jack Moore.

Manager of the Illinois EPA's division of land pollution control, Moore added, "This action does not extend to in-state shipping sources operating under existing permits, nor to permitted small shipments which may originate from out of state."

The action will only apply to shipments to the Wilsonville site. Thompson had previously ordered a 45-day moratorium on issuance of supplemental permits for special and hazardous wastes from out of state. The additional action by the Illinois EPA does not affect the governor's moratorium.

Testimony is scheduled to be heard in a lawsuit filed against Earthline by the village of Wilsonville, Macoupin County, the county Farm Bureau and residents of the area. The suit seeks a permanent injunction prohibiting Earthline from transferring containers of waste from Missouri and burying them at the landfill near Wilsonville.

Accident verdict in Scott Barker death

A coroner's jury in Granite City has ruled that the death of Scott Allen Barker, 18, of 2033 Park Ave., March 25, was accidental.

Mr. Barker's auto and the car of Richard Griffin, 42, of 2007 Garfield Ave., were involved in an accident in the 1800 block of Madison Avenue and Mr. Barker's car crashed through the showroom window of B. E. Hohl Ford, 1837 Madison Ave. Griffin is recuperating from head injuries and was not called to testify before the coroner's jury.

Madison County Deputy Coroner David Partney conducted the inquiry, reading the preliminary coroner's report and the official Granite City Police Department accident report to the jury.

There were no witnesses called and the coroner's jury required only moments to reach the verdict.

'Alpine Days' in Madison

"Alpine Days" will be the theme of a special sales promotion in Madison on Friday and Saturday, July 15 and 16, according to Wayne Scannell, president of the Madison Business Association (MBA), announced today.

A meeting of the newly formed MBA group to plan the event was held today at 7:30 a.m. in the Madison Recreation Center.

"We'll have sidewalk sales, inside sales, giveaways and hopefully a lot of fun," Scannell said.

"Several local organizations have expressed interest in the event. We are finalizing our plans, but I am sure everyone will find real bargains and have a good time."

Members of the MBA committee working on the event are Fred Barr, Miss Tille Nora, Mrs. Helen Daley, Dave Leipziger, Bill Criffield, Roy Jackson, Tony Anselmo and Scannell.

Any civic group or church group wishing to participate may contact Scannell at 452-7110 for further information.

INVESTIGATE BURGLARY

Granite City police are to question a youth in connection with last week's burglary at the home of Magnus Leisner, 2810 Marshall Ave., in which a $300 component stereo, including a radio, turntable and speakers, were stolen. The stereo and a piggy bank were recovered near a building next door. Leisner said it was the fourth recent burglary at his home.

ALPINE RENOVATION progresses Wednesday at Bilich's Bar, 13th Street and Madison Avenue, the third building in the madison business district to be converted to an Alpine village decor. Seven other merchants with shops along Madison Avenue have agreed to remodeling their storefronts with the Alpine styling.

Vadalabene fighting Alton prison proposal

Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, has communicated his opposition to the possible conversion of the Alton Mental Health Center (State Hospital) into a medium security corrections facility by the state of Illinois.

In a letter to Governor James Thompson, he urged immediate scrapping of the idea, to "relieve the anxiety of citizens of the area and all other concerned persons."

The local senator said, "Let me add my voice to the resounding clamor of protests generated by the proposal to convert the Alton Mental Health Center into a medium security prison."

"While I emphatically agree that the state is drastically in need of better correctional facilities, it seems to me the height of absurdity to close down an effectively-operating Mental Health Center performing just as drastic a need in this area, to further this end."

"The Alton center is an extremely valuable asset to the area and the state; it has performed essential services at a level of professionalism to the extent that it has been singled out as one of the finest facilities of its kind in the state."

"To even make a proposal that the state is efficiency and severely compromise staff morale — not to mention the concerns of the patients and their loved ones — betrays cruel insensitivity that to date has not been characteristic of your administration."

"This proposal came to me as a monstrous surprise; let me urge you to withdraw it at the earliest possible moment and clarify what has become a situation of grave concern to the citizens of Alton and the surrounding area."

"If this conversion were to be made, the development of 600 acres adjacent to the center into usage for parks and recreation would be impossible."

"It simply defies reason to assume that those who wish to relax and enjoy themselves in this area could do so in the shadow of a penitentiary, no matter what the level of its prisoner population and measures of security."

"Finally, the impact of the conversion on the present job situation and economy of the area should be a valid consideration militating against the conversion."

"It seems to me that someone has been wildly searching for alternatives for a problem that I fully understand is a difficult one."

"To attack a problem in one area of social improvement by destroying an already effectively-functioning facility in another — especially one as pressing as mental health — is a tradeoff that is simply intolerable."

"I urge you to withdraw this proposal immediately, so as to put to rest the anxieties of all who are concerned as to the fate of the Alton Mental Health Center."

Arrow plans a work day at Camp Sunnen

With summer near, the Order of the Arrow, national brotherhood of honor campers within the Boy Scouts of America, is getting scout camps throughout the nation ready to open.

The Cahokia Lodge in the Cahokia Mound Scout Council will be holding a Camp Sunnen workday, combined with its spring convocation, set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 10, 11 and 12.

Camp Sunnen is located near Poloski, Mo., and will open on Sunday, June 19, for the 1977 summer season. Over 700 area scouts and leaders are expected to take part in the summer camping season in week-long sessions. According to Lodge Chief Randy Affolter, projects for the workday will include:

Paint and repair Rock House, repair wiring leading to the rifle range, repair backstop, dredge the swimming area to remove growth, scrape and paint patrol tables, dig out all culverts along the roads and repair the ceremony ring.

Also, put preservative on exposed areas of the service, health lodge and staff cabins, repair benches in the campfire area, repair benches at campfire rings, replace steps to Nampel and work on braces for vestsheds.

Even though that any adult, even though not a member of the Arrow, who wants to help in setting up the camp will be welcomed. Reservations are due at the Council Service Center, 2016 Edison Delmar Ave., by 5 p.m. Wednesday, June 8.

April crimes down

Major crime in Granite City declined from 241 cases reported in April 1976 to 228 in April of this year, according to a crime summary released by the Granite City Police Department.

While crimes decreased, the number of cases cleared by arrest increased from 199 in April 1976 to 128 in April 1977, the report shows.

The most striking decrease came in auto burglaries which decreased from 64 cases in April of last year to 41 cases this April.

Other crime categories showing decreases from April of last year were rape, from one to zero, larceny, down from 77 to 76 cases, and auto theft, from 16 cases to 15.

Showing increases in the period were robbery, up from two to three cases, assault, from 16 to 17, and burglary, from 65 to 77 cases.

There were no homicides either month. One homicide case was cleared by arrest in April compared to none the previous April. One rape case this April was cleared with none a year earlier.

Sixteen assaults were cleared by arrest in April 1977, double the eight cleared by arrest one year earlier, and 14 rape cases terminated in arrest this April, two more than the 18 in April 1976.

There were six burglary cases cleared in each of the two Aprils and two auto burglary cases in each of the two months.

The line auto theft arrest this April exceeded none in April 1976.

There has been one fatal auto accident this far this year within the city limits, compared to none in the first four months of 1976, while 179 persons had been injured as of April 30, more than the 167 injured in auto accidents during the first four months of last year.

The injuries were the result of 133 injury accidents during the period of 1977, while 120 injury accidents were reported through April 30 of 1976.

The total number of accidents through April 30 of this year was 708, including 572 property-damage accidents, compared to 569 accidents, including 449 property-damage, in the same period of 1976.

The number of charges filed had decreased to 1,185 in 1977 through April 30, compared to 1,437 in the first four months of 1976. The number of persons arrested also had declined from 1,228 in the period of 1976 to 1,013 in the first four months of this year.

Traffic arrests through April 30, 1977, totaled 561, fewer than the 721 for the same period a year earlier.

Chief Ronald J. Velzer noted the Granite City Police Department answered 2,147 calls during April of this year.

Call bids for fence repairs
Bids have been called by Granite City officials for repair of broken stretches of fencing along 23rd Street between Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road.

Bids calling for installation of chain link fencing six feet high are to be opened at 10 a.m. June 20.

The bid call was issued at the urging of Alernan Roy Poulos who said there are a number of breaks in the fence, most of them caused by automobiles that run into the fence. Poulos has urged that guard rails of metal be installed along the fence at points where damage occurs most frequently.

The chain link fence skirts the open drainage canal extending along 23rd Street to Nameoki Road and from Nameoki to Edwardsville Road.

Road problems on Pontoon agenda

The Pontoon Beach Village Board will hold a special meeting at 6:30 p.m. today in the village hall at which a proposal for Nameoki Township to take over most of the maintenance of the village streets may be discussed.

The meeting has been called for the express purpose of discussing personnel in the township's highway department, but a proposal made last Thursday night by Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic is expected to be reviewed.

Much of the meeting may be held in private executive session, which the law allows for personnel discussions. When the board returns to open session, Mehelic's proposal may be discussed. Mehelic has offered for the township to take over all of the road maintenance in the village, if the village will turn all of its motor fuel tax allocations over to Mehelic.

Several of the trustees met with a representative of the Illinois Department of Transportation Wednesday morning and say the DOT official does not feel Mehelic's proposal would be legal.

Even if the village highway department is dissolved, MPF funds will continue directly to the village board and the trustees then would have to contract work for the township on a job-by-job basis, the trustees who were at the meeting feel.

Some trustees feel they do not wish to give up day-to-day patching of holes and other smaller work and do not wish to dissolve the highway department, but would like to contract with Mehelic for some of the larger jobs in the village. Board members have been informed the village's fire rating has been improved from Class 3 to Class 2 due to efficiency demonstrated the past year by the Long Lake Fire Department. The rating improvement could result in lower fire insurance premiums for village residents.

The board also has authorized its consulting and engineering firm, Sheppard, Morgan & Schaub of Granite City, to conduct a survey, title search and appraisal of Lilly Avenue just east of Highway 111 in a section which has never been dedicated to the city.

The survey cost is not to exceed $1,000, according to the board's motion.

Head-Start bus pickups

John C. Rush, director of the Venice-Madison Head Start program which begins Monday has announced a schedule of bus pickups that will be made to take children to Head-Start classes in Venice and Madison. For Madison schools, pickups will be made at 7:30 a.m. on Bend Road, and at 7:45 a.m. on Eagle Park at Allen Street, on the right side; Hill Street, right; Roosevelt Street, right; Hare Street, left, and Harrison Street, right.

Posthumous degree to former GC resident

Mrs. Nancy Joan Gutzler, a former Granite City resident, will receive the posthumous award of a bachelor's degree in medical technology at the June 10 commencement exercises at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Gutzler, wife of Thomas Gutzler of Highland and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Graham, also of Highland and formerly of Granite City, died as a result of injuries incurred in an automobile accident on May 4.

She was the mother of Christopher Matthew Gutzler, 4, and she leaves a sister, Barbara, at home. Mrs. Gutzler attended Sacred Heart Parochial School here and Granite City High School until her sophomore year when the family moved to Highland. A senior at SIUE, she had been a student at the university three years after attending St. Luke's School of Nursing in St. Louis for one and one-half years.

The faculty of the SIUE Department of Biological Sciences, School of Science and Technology, voted unanimously to request the SIUE Board of Trustees grant the degree posthumously to Mrs. Gutzler.

"In view of her excellent scholarship in the program and virtual completion of all requirements for the degree," Authorization for the award was given by the Board of Trustees, after approval was granted by the SIUE president, the acting vice-president and provost, the registrar and the dean of the School of Science and Technology.

Telephone crisis is ahead, Chamber told

"It's a crisis. A time of decision just as significant as the energy crisis. It is a crisis which will affect all telephone users."

That was the message Robert E. Dunklau, Illinois Bell Telephone general manager of state operations, brought last night to the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce during a monthly board meeting, held at Charlie's Restaurant.

The key to the crisis is a series of recent Federal Communications Commission decisions which have opened parts of the communications market to new suppliers of telecommunications products and services, he said.

"In our society, of course, competition is assumed to be good, no matter what the circumstances," Dunklau remarked.

"But the telephone industry is living proof that this is not always the case. The long-standing system, with all telephone industry operating under regulation as a substitute for competition — has made telephone services available to all citizens at a price they can afford."

Dunklau said competition from specialized common carriers and private equipment manufacturers seriously threatens an existing balance in telecommunications nationwide price averaging and value-of-service pricing versus actual costs.

Allowing so-called specialized common carriers to "cream skim" the most profitable, heavily-used routes and leaving the less profitable routes for the Bell System and the Nation's 1,600 independent telephone companies would ultimately raise telephone rates for many, Dunklau forecast.

"The American people should not have to wake up one day and find that it costs several hundred dollars to have a telephone installed; that they have to wait months or years to get service; that the quality of service has deteriorated, or that only the well-to-do can afford telephone at all, as in the case of many other countries today. He told the Chamber board.

Dunklau contended that the time has come for Congress to examine the telecommunications issue and to determine where the public interest lies.

"No one can predict what Congress will finally decide in this matter. But it's vitally important that the matter be decided only after an open and thorough public debate," he concluded.

Currently, the Bell System and the 1,600 independent telephone companies are supporting the Consumer Communications Reform Act. This legislation reaffirms the basic goal of "universal service at a cost affordable by all."

The bill also seeks to protect consumers by preventing costly and wasteful duplication of interest services, as well as unnecessarily higher rates for home telephone users, it was asserted.

He was introduced by Kenneth Evers, Illinois Bell manager in the Quad-City area, who also reported on activities of the Chamber public relations committee.

President Roger Higgins presided at the dinner meeting and Henry Gabriel of the Community Pride Committee said nominations are still being accepted for community pride awards to be presented at a dinner this fall.

The committee aided in honoring the state champion GCHS Soccer team and has plans for similar activities, it was noted.

Annual dinner dances of the Chamber and its Women's Division are being planned, Mrs. Billie Schuler, president, reported for the division.

David Knollman, reporting for Play Day Chairman Herman Schroeder, said there have been 195 reservations for the Chamber's 1977 play day next Monday, June 6, at Sunset Hills Country Club.

C. E. Blankenship, Governmental Affairs Committee chairman, stressed the importance of revising compensation insurance rules in Illinois to more nearly conform with nationwide standards.

Chamber Executive Vice-President Edward F. Reske reviewed membership trends and finances, and Higgins noted efforts to encourage new Scott Air Force Base personnel to reside in the Quad-City area.

No other committees reported.

Distribution Supervisor Eads at Illinois Power Co. in Granite City, two contacts were made between antenna and power line so far this year. In both cases, the folks involved were putting up antennas, and both parties were burned.

"That's one way that antenna and power line can come together. Another thing that brings them in touch is the wind."

If your antenna blows over onto a power line, it could cause you a world of hurt. There are lines that carry 4,160 volts up there over your head and some others that carry up to 7,200 volts.

Obviously, if your antenna falls on one of these, you are going to fry everything in your house that has a plug attached and you might even burn the house down.

If your antenna dumps over onto the line going into your house, you are not going to do as much damage as hitting the big lines. But you had better hope it doesn't fall over on Super Bowl night, not to mention the cost of repairs charged to you by the power company.

But take heart, CB'ers, there are some things you can do to help prevent these disasters.

The ideal thing to suggest is that you place your antenna in such a way that it cannot touch a wire no matter which way it falls. But since this is not always possible, there is another thing you can and should do — tie it down. Even if you are only 10 feet off the roof, if you're near a power line, guy it down on at least three sides. If you put up a tower, the best thing to do is sink it in three feet of concrete and guy the upper part of the thing so it won't fall over and put you 10-7 (out of service).

Above all, if your antenna falls on a power line, call the power company repair department to get it down, and DON'T TOUCH IT!

It will have done the damage it's gonna do within a few seconds of touching and there's not much you can do. The power company people know what to do and how to do it.

The best thing you can do is to prevent antenna touching power line in the first place.

Test Center Foreman Berkel at Illinois Bell tells me that phone lines are a lot less dangerous than power lines, but his advice is to treat any wire as though it were a hot one and let the proper people handle it.

As for lightning, it loves antennas. It seeks them out.

I heard about a fella in Arkansas who had five antennas burnt up by lightning in the same spring shower season.

Didn't do his radio much good either; he's on his sixth rig now. So, when Mother Nature kisses up an electrical storm, unplug that coaxial. And since glass is a great insulator, it might be wise to put the coax ends on a Mason jar.

If you want to enjoy your shiny new rig for years to come, also heed The power to run it is fine, but too much juice will put you 16-7 for good.

Catch ya later, the Lil Squaw, we're out.

Summer school opens

Summer school classes for high school students in Granite City began Wednesday at South High School with 235 enrolled for the six-week session.

The courses will conclude on Wednesday, July 15, for students who attend two hours a day for one subject or four hours for those enrolled for two subjects. Cost of each class is $32.50.

Classes for special education pupils opened Tuesday at Lake School at no cost to the families as the school district is reimbursed for tuition for the state.

Twenty-two children are enrolled for the three-hour sessions each day, instructed by three teachers, according to Vasil Eftimoff, administrative assistant-pupil personnel.

The program will end on Thursday, June 30, and registration still is open for area children, Eftimoff added.

He said parents are advised to contact him at the School Board office 876-6600 for information.

There is no summer school program for elementary school students, it was noted.

PARKED AUTO LOOTED
A $125 citizens' band radio, a $75 stereo, five tape recordings worth $25, and a $17 battery-powered light were among the items of Roger Paul Genfrey, parked on the St. Elizabeth Hospital parking lot between 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Dixon and Bakalis potential Democratic governor hopefuls

By KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — Will Rogers once commented, "I am a member of no organized political party. I am a Democrat."

He would be right at home in Illinois today. This state has not seen so much confusion since the Cubs used to change managers every week.

There is only one sure thing about the Illinois Democrats these days and that is that they are going to elect their man mayor of Chicago. There will be an election on June 7, but the Republicans have about as much chance of electing their guy as Gerald Ford had of carrying Georgia. But the Democrats are far from happy. There was enough punch left in the regular Chicago Democratic organization of the late Mayor Richard J. Daley to assure the nomination of his appointive successor Michael A. Bilandic. But there was no great cheering about the Bilandic victory. There was, in fact, some question as to whether it could properly be termed a "victory" in terms of the usual Chicago politics. Bilandic won all right, but he only attracted 51 per cent of the total vote, a showing which would have been considered a disgrace in the Daley hey-day. Beneath the Statehouse

Dome Democratic strategists sighed and virtually conceded the 1978 governor's race to Republican incumbent James H. Thompson. The lack-luster Chicago Democratic primary strengthened the developing view in political circles that as far as winning statewide elections is concerned the old Daley machine is as dead as King Tut.

The big question now is what to do about it? Obviously the Democrats are going to have to move out of their Chicago shell, create a revitalized statewide party structure and come up with some leadership more attuned to the times. The process of choosing new leadership is, in itself, likely to generate a lively fight.

Newly-elected state Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis, 33, irritated some party regulars by coming out before the primary and calling for a special state convention this year to "reform and revitalize" the party.

Many were annoyed by his timing, coming as it did virtually on the eve of the regular organization's first post-Daley test in Chicago.

Besides, some felt that if there is to be a shaping of the party the effort should be led by Bakalis, but by some of the more established leaders such as Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon or U.S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson.

In Washington, Congressman Paul Simon, onetime lieutenant governor and unsuccessful aspirant for governor, is on the record as saying that Dixon is the legitimate successor to Daley as head of the party.

Simon also rates Dixon as his first choice to oppose Thompson for governor next year, but did list Bakalis as his second choice.

Bakalis could well be the nominee, despite his tendency to rub some Democrats the wrong way.

Privately some Democrats concede that chances of beating Thompson next year are remote.

Not only do they reason that voters, who elected him by a landslide in 1976 will be willing to give him more than two years to make a record as governor, but also that President Carter's energy moves are going to make things tough for any Democrat next year.

Coffee addiction drawbacks

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY

Registered Dietitian
The current price of coffee makes one wish for a less expensive addiction. The International Coffee Organization (ICO) is predicting, weather permitting, that there will be enough coffee to meet world demands both this year and next. This prediction is vehemently denied by the coffee grower delegates.

Whoever is right, the probable truth is that most people would be better off to lower their own consumption.

Coffee has no nutritive value. It is, in fact, one of the most powerful stimulants. One cup of coffee contains 1 1/2 grams of caffeine and its consumption increases the production of urinary uric acid. It also acts as a diuretic upon kidney function.

There are many medical problems which make the consumption of coffee inadvisable. Angina and certain heart difficulties, hypertension, uricemia, gout and some kidney dysfunctions to name a few. It may overtax the suprarenal capsules and overdo is toxic, producing caffeineism.

Most coffee drinkers are victims of a habit that is difficult to break. Some feel coffee is an innocuous beverage and it doesn't matter how much is consumed. Such wrongful attitudes would users into excessive intakes.

Addiction to coffee, or more accurately, caffeine, is very real. If coffee is suddenly withdrawn from the diet, many people will experience headaches, and other "withdrawal type" symptoms.

Problems with coffee drinking are more apt to occur if it is taken alone, not with a meal, and consumed all day long. The worst pattern for the consumer is to depend upon the stimulation of coffee and cigarettes to sustain them during the day and eliminating the intake of food until the evening meal.

Symptoms of this pattern can be identified by discolored teeth, foul breath, darkened leathery-like skin, nervousness, tense and irritable disposition.

It would be wise to make a personal evaluation of your own coffee drinking habits. Four to five cups a day should be the limit, with two to three cups preferable.

If you try to cut down on your consumption, begin by eliminating the cups taken late in the day, especially in the evening. Skip the coffee usually taken with dinner. Substitute other liquids. Use smaller cups and don't leave the pot on constantly.

Your body and your pocketbook will be glad you changed your coffee habits.

Dear Shirley: Which lettuce is the easiest to digest? I have problems with some kinds.

Mrs. D.W.
Dear Mrs. D.W.: Try soft butter lettuce and use the inside leaves.

Dear Shirley: Can you substitute margarine for butter in recipes without changing the results? If so, what kinds should I use?

Mrs. A.L.
Dear Mrs. A.L.: Use corn oil or safflower oil margarine and you'll never be able to tell the difference in your recipes.

Father, son differ over job objective

By DR. WILLARD ABRAHAM

Q. My husband feels that the only jobs that are worthwhile are those that bring a huge income. Our teen-age son wants to be a social worker. Do you get the picture — and the conflict?

I'm caught right in the middle because I understand the objectives they both have. My husband says the boy is "unrealistic," and our son says it is "unrealistic" to devote your life to a field just for the money.

A. Can a difference of opinion like this be resolved?

A. It is possible, of course, to make a good living and still enjoy the work involved. Pursuing money just for its own sake seldom results in complete satisfaction (although in rare cases it does).

However, it isn't wise to ignore the practical aspects of what it costs these days to support a family and whether a field even offers job opportunities.

Although a youngster shouldn't be pushed into vocational directions for which he or she has no interest or capability, parents do have a responsibility to help them find out that there is a vast expanse of fields to consider.

After all, the government's "Dictionary of Occupational Titles" lists thousands of jobs. A skilled school counselor who knows your son may be helpful in discussing with you possible ways out of your dilemma.

Q. Our 3-year-old boy has difficulty in talking. He almost seems to stutter once in a while, and I'm terribly worried about him.

I know that stuttering is hard to correct, and that it is related to emotional problems.

He is a well-adjusted, happy child, enjoys his nursery school, and seems to have no difficulty communicating with his friends. In fact, his nursery school teacher tried to put my mind at ease on the subject. She is highly experienced, so she may be right.

What do you think?
A. On the basis of what you said, your young son may be right within the normal range of 3-year-old children. They often hesitate in their search for words, but such hesitation is not stuttering. It is part of the developmental pattern through which most of them progress.

You might check this matter out a little more through your pediatrician.

Brownies picnic in Wilson Park

Brownie Troop 198 of Webster School held its last meeting of the year, last week, with a hike from St. John's United Church of Christ, 2801 Nameoki Road to Wilson Park where the Brownies had a picnic lunch.

Those who attended this meeting included Leann Swiger, Tina Pope, Leasa Shemonia, Jessica Gallas, Marianna Oliver, Rhonda Jakal, and the leader, Andrea Oliver.

Maggie Sullivan, a new Brownie also attended the picnic, as well as guests, Joey and Dianne Oliver. Mothers attending the picnic were Mrs. Shirley Swiger, Mrs. Alice Griffin, and Mrs. Bonnie Shemonia.

After a short play period, the girls ate lunch and then went on a nature walk through the park. At the end of the meeting, plans were made to visit the library in July and to have a mother-and-daughter picnic in August.

Troop 198 is recruiting new Brownies, any first, second or third grade student of Webster School, is advised to contact Mrs. Lonnie Oliver to join the troop this summer, it was noted.

Senior Citizens hear Rev. Davis

The Rev. A. W. Davis, a representative of the Tri-City Aid Service, spoke on hearing aids at a meeting last week of the More Merrier Senior Citizens.

President John Winklemier led the pledge to the flag and Mrs. Ruby Corvitt offered prayer.

Other guests included Mrs. Marge Hall and Mrs. Norma Mendoza from R.S.V.P., Belleville, who announced they are accepting volunteers in various programs and Mrs. Peggy Jones from VFW Post 1300. She reported any club or organization who needs a flag will be eligible for a flag after requesting it from the VFW or auxiliary.

New members enrolled were Mrs. Verna Spurrier, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Mendoza. Dinner was served to 57 members followed by games. Prizes were awarded to Rose Gochoff, Della Hagan, Ann Crawley, Ann Noel, Villi Ridings. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m. on Thursday, June 9.

Contact lenses—they're getting better and better

By EMANUEL E. PARKER
LOS ANGELES — "In the next five to 10 years the contact lens will be developed that can be worn continuously," said Dr. Robert D. Yee, chief of the division of ophthalmology at Suburban Harbor General Hospital.

But in the meantime persons preferring contact lenses to regular eyeglasses must choose between the hard and soft varieties, and Yee discussed some of the pros and cons of each.

The major advantage of the soft lens, he said, is that it's so thin and flexible it allows oxygen to pass through and under it to the cornea.

This greatly aids in the comfort of the wear and is the chief reason people who can't bear to wear hard lenses can put soft lenses on and grow accustomed to them in 14 minutes.

Yee said soft lenses are so useful when treating cataracts in elderly people they've acquired the name "bandage lenses."

"After cataract surgery soft lenses are more soothing to the eye. In experiments cataract surgery patients are being allowed to wear them 24 hours. Also many elderly patients with arthritis can't handle hard lenses."

Yee said soft lenses also are used to treat diseases of the cornea such as ulcers, abnormal dryness and ruptures; "... they give both support and protection."

But most people simply wear lenses to correct vision and have a choice of either the soft or hard lens.

"The hard lens offers the best vision in terms of clarity," Yee said, "but there's a limit as to how long they can be worn."

Overstepping this limit can result in a corneal abrasion, a scratching or scarring of the cornea surface, which is very painful and could require the wearing of eye patches for a day or so to heal.

Soft lenses can almost immediately be worn up to several hours longer than hard, Yee said.

But for those with corneal astigmatism (a defect of the eye that prevents light rays meeting in a single focal point), soft lenses might not be suitable.

"The problem is caused by irregularities in the curvature of the cornea," Yee said. "Because of its firmness a hard lens can mold the cornea surface and correct the defect. A soft lens simply assumes the irregular shape of the cornea and vision remains bad."

If the degree of astigmatism isn't too great a person can use a soft lens; "... vision will be slightly soft and blurry and instead of 20-20 vision you'll have 20-25," Yee said.

Despite their ability to mold the surface of the eye, the better hard lenses can restore normal vision is false, Yee said.

"Most people who wear hard lenses say immediately after removing them they can see better. But the effect doesn't last long and the change in the corneal surface is temporary. Hard lenses can't cure astigmatism."

If an individual's visual problems can be corrected with soft lenses it may be decided if they're worth the price.

Soft lenses usually cost twice as much as hard, require more care, and have an average life span of only one year.

But whereas being fitted with hard lenses requires two or three visits to an optometrist or ophthalmologist, soft lenses can usually be taken home after one trip.

Soft lenses tear easily, become worn from handling and can absorb bacteria and other impurities. To prevent eye infections soft lenses must be boiled daily in a solution of salt and distilled water, which must be mixed precisely according to directions.

The metal container in which the lenses are put, is subject to rusting and must be replaced periodically.

Soft lenses must also be stored in a preserved saline solution sold in pharmacies. If left exposed to air they dehydrate, become brittle, and chip and break.

Turn off boomerang emotions

By REV. W. LEE THUMAN

Have you ever seen someone kill an idea by strangling it to death, or bludgeoning someone's dream to its knees?

Talking to a friend, James S. Simpson, about a person who had taken his own life, I was related to me that he had known the man in the business world. He summed up the man's life wistfully when he said: "When a man has lost God, there is nothing to do but jump."

The destructive emotions of mortals are acid feelings such as anger, anxiety, envy, hate, fear and jealousy. These are the emotions which can destroy.

I call them the boomerang emotions because they can hurt both receiver and sender. To stop this vicious cycle, one has to consciously develop and nurture healing and life-giving health emotions, such as faith, hope, creativity, love and laughter.

Love, for example, is the process of giving, and giving love destroys selfishness which results in the dampening of the self-centeredness which destroys jealousy and this results in the end of hate which will eliminate the possibility of murder by hate.

To live and let live is just half of the meaning of the commandment that we shall not kill. It means to live and let others live their full lives. Jesus did not warn us against becoming gangland executioners, but he very sharply judged all of us who pass by on the other side of the street from someone wounded and in need.

The foundation of this commandment is that God values every man as much as he values me. One God who is Father to us all, and so all are kith and kin. This rule for healthy living means that we look at all persons in this light.

Leonard Guys, sculptor and artist, set up his statue, "The Boy Dreaming" at his last art show and he used lights about this bit of carved stone. He told me he had at first put the lights on the floor shining on the boy's face. As he stepped back and looked, he was shocked. The boy looked strange as if bereft of intelligence.

He changed the lights and tried several other angles, but decided to use the lights from above. The statue had life and very much resembled an angel.

This is a story worth telling because when any of us looks at anyone from just the eye to eye level, some do not look as if they have little or no creativity or worth. If we keep looking at them in this manner, we can begin to feel superior because they, in our eyes, seem to be inferior to us and we can fall into the trap of thinking that such people do not matter.

When we look at anyone through the eyes of faith, God's view point, then you can see the worth that that person has, that all life is sacred and can only respond, "I cannot take away... I must help to live."

The friend I spoke about at the beginning of this article is past his 75th birthday. Most of his energy is spent raising money for the building of the education unit for his church. He mused that he will never see very many of the children who will be taught in that church-school building, but he knew that they would be coming and he wants a part of the fun of preparing for them.

That same man is concerned about conservation of our natural resources, pollution, the struggle for world peace, and about every other matter which has an effect on life for the next generation. But what else can one expect from a man who has been cultivating the positive emotions all of his life?

News notes

About 300 emergency medical technicians are expected to join other emergency medicine experts in Champaign this week to discuss improved emergency response methods in a two-day symposium. The meeting, sponsored by the Illinois Department of Public Health and the Public Safety Foundation of Chicago, will deal with situations such as the February elevated train disaster in Chicago, child abuse, battered women, sexual assault and the development of paramedic programs in rural areas.

Gov. Thompson announced last week that a public search is under way to find a nominee to the Illinois Court of Claims. The court rules on validity of financial claims made upon the state by vendors and others who protest that the state owes them money. Requiring Senate confirmation, the position of Court Claims judge carries a six-year term, with an annual salary of $19,000 for the part-time post. Persons interested in sending their applications to Kenneth C. Prince, 223 S. Riverside Plaza, Chicago, 60606 by June 6.

A specially trained Illinois Department of Agriculture spotter will conduct an aerial survey across the state to locate infestations of soybean cyst nematode (SCN). The spotter will be looking for patches of yellow, stunted plants. After the aerial survey, soil samples will be gathered and analyzed to further identify infested areas. SCN can cause losses in yield of up to 50 per cent. The most effective method of control is crop rotation, but farmers also are being advised to clean all machinery before moving from a known infested area to a noncontaminated area.

The Illinois Department of Conservation is requesting rural landowners to delay roadside mowing until mid-July to allow birds and animals to build nests and raise families. If noxious weeds are a problem, landowners are advised to use spot mowing or spot spraying for control. Information on the Department of Conservation's "Roadsides for Wildlife" program is available by writing the Division of Wildlife Resources, 600 State Office Building, Springfield 62760.

Tow-tapping music, ham and bean dinners, an auction, craft demonstrations and early American games will highlight the "Vandalia Grand Love" celebration June 17-19. The event is held annually to recreate the social atmosphere of the mid-1800s when Vandalia was the Illinois state capital.

The Illinois Bureau of Employment Security will conduct a statewide survey this month to determine exactly how many people are doing what manufacturing jobs in the state. Illinois is one of 40 states working with the U. S. Department of Labor in the survey. The study will result in a "complete job profile of our state," according to BES Administrator C. Thompson Ross. "This will allow workers, employers and government planners to plan more effectively."

YMCA Seniors plan out of town trips

The YMCA Senior Citizens finalized plans to visit James Town, Ramsey, Ill., and Meramec Springs, during a business meeting conducted at the "Y."

Mrs. Marge Hall extended appreciation to all who donated baked goods and hand-made items for the Senior Citizen Festival held in Belleville, last week.

President Mrs. Lucille Pierce announced the next meeting on Friday, will honor those observing birthdays in June. Birthday honorees are to bring cakes and ice cream will be furnished, the president added.

Auxiliary elects 1977-78 officers

Others elected include Mrs. Ruby Cooper, the retiring president, to treasurer; Mrs. Barbara Weathers, first vice-president; Mrs. Doris Jean Stout, second vice-president; Mrs. Sarah Vancell, historian; Mrs. Mary Harrod, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Evelyn McCollegan, chaplain.

Rehearsals open

Rehearsals began today for the "Music Under the Stars" summer series of concerts. Mrs. Mary Ann Bright, director, is reminding those who would like to join the choruses.

Adults and high school students will rehearse from 7 to 9 this evening and each Monday and Thursday in the vocal music room of Granite City High School.

The children's chorus began rehearsals from 1 to 3 p.m. today in the GCHS South vocal music room and will continue practice the same hours each Monday and Thursday.

Four concerts will be presented in June and July in Wilson Park with the first scheduled for June 14. Anyone who enjoys singing is invited to attend the practices, Mrs. Bright said.

POCO MUSICAL GROUP which will be featured at the SIUE outdoor amphitheater at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Poco to perform Friday

"Poco" and Jimmie Speeris will be the featured artists Friday at 8 p.m. at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The concert, sponsored by the University Center Board, will be presented at the Outdoor Performing Arts Facility.

Poco is Rusty Young on pedal steel guitar, dobro, mandolin, banjo, guitar and vocals; George Grantham on drums and vocals; Timothy B. Schmit on bass and viola; and Paul Cotton on guitars and vocals. These four have been playing together since late 1970 and have been the sole members of the group.

The group has spent thousands of hours making music together. The four musicians are said to have the kind of spontaneity and enthusiasm that make them "one of the best groups in the world," according to numerous critics. Speeris, playing lead-in to Poco at tomorrow's performance, is regarded as an artist in his own right. He spent the first two years of his life on the road with the "Magic Empire Circus" as a starter act.

Then, after many trials and tribulations during his adolescence in Southern California, Speeris went to New York, where he cut his first record album, "Isles of View." Among his other albums are: "The Original Tap Dancing Kid," "The Dragon is Dancing" and his most recent, "Ports of Heart."

Tickets for the concert are $4 for lawn seats and $5, $6 and $7 for tent seats, the SIUE ticket office, 292-2239, has announced.

Jr. Service Federation installs new officers

Newly elected officers of the Illinois Federation of Junior Service Clubs were installed in ceremonies held at the Madison Recreation Center with the Granite City and Madison Clubs, serving as hostesses. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock in the afternoon followed by a business meeting with Mrs. Wilma Eddington, in charge.

Those to serve for the 1977-78 year include, Mrs. Beverly King, Granite City Club, president; Mrs. Shirley Clark, Madison Club, first vice-president and recording secretary; Miss Flora Mae Lensing, Granite City Club, corresponding secretary and Betty Jo Von Fossan, Collinsville Club, treasurer.

Installing officer was Rose Marie Chadwick of the Collinsville Club. A resolution was passed by the members to hold meetings on the third Saturday of April for a workshop and installation and in the month of October.

Those present included Mrs. Jean Ann Vrenick, club sponsor, Jennie Staat, Jo Ellen Harris, Pam Reed, Wilma Eddington and Beverly King of the Granite City group.

Rally Day Sunday at Bethel Temple

"Rally Day" at 10 a.m. Sunday will launch a week-long revival at Bethel Temple Pentecostal Church, 2400 E. 25th St., it was announced today by the pastor, the Rev. Ralph McKinney.

Evangelist William McKinney of Dexter, Ky., a retired minister and brother of the local pastor, will lead the revival services.

Evening services are scheduled weekdays at 7:30 through June 12. The public is invited to attend. Former church members, now living elsewhere, and current members of the congregation will join together on Sunday for the Rally Day service, beginning at 10 a.m. Mentions of the occasion will be given to those attending, the Rev. McKinney said.

Scouts take part in memorial services

Numerous Boy and Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cubs and other scouts joined Disabled American Veterans Chapter 12 and Auxiliary in the annual Parade of Flags from the DAV hall on 19th Street to Memorial Park across from St. Elizabeth Hospital Monday. The Scott Air Force Base Color Guard led the parade.

The march started at 19th Street and Grand Avenue and went north on Grand to Memorial Park where flags were raised in memory of local deceased veterans and the unknown soldiers. DAV Chapter 12 Commander Bob Kennerly and co-chairman Jay Miller conducted the program with Commander Kennerly giving a special gratitude message to Mrs. June Scheriger, state commander of the DAV Auxiliary, and Joe Heffner, DAV state junior officer, for attending. Heffner also spoke during the memorial service.

Volunteers who served as honor guards at the park until sundown Memorial day were Scoutmaster Paul Wilson of Boy Scout Pack Eight, Commander and Mrs. Bob Kennerly; Mrs. Scheriger; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Miller; Wilma Dorch, Vernon Collins, Gordon Thompson and Tammy Dawn Lemons of Brownie Troop 621. Volunteers who folded the flags after sundown for presentation to the families of the deceased veteran each flag honored.

Former Madison man dies in plane crash

A former Madison resident, William Curtis Doolin, 53, of Boise, Idaho, was killed, and his wife, Mrs. Jane Doolin, was injured in an airplane crash at 4 p.m. Monday in the mountain area near Boise, according to information received here by relatives.

His brother, Herbert Doolin of Granite City, received information that the former resident was the pilot of the plane and when the engine stopped he landed successfully, but was too close to a mountain cliff and crashed over the side. Mr. Doolin and his wife were not found until early Tuesday morning, it was reported. The condition of Mrs. Doolin is not known, the family added. Mr. Doolin was born in Puxico, Mo., and resided in Madison from childhood until 18

HERE'S A SPECIAL FEATURE OF A&P'S CASH BONANZA YOU'RE SURE TO ENJOY. IF ONE OF THE CONCEALED NUMBER DISCS YOU RECEIVE SHOWS THE WORDS "YOU WIN $1," YOU'RE ONE OF OUR NEW A&P CASH BONANZA INSTANT WINNERS! JUST TURN IT IN TO YOUR A&P STORE MANAGER AND YOU'LL RECEIVE YOUR CASH PRIZE INSTANTLY.

THIS IS ALL YOU DO...

1. Everytime you visit one of our participating stores you will receive a free concealed $1000 Cash Bonanza number ticket. Tickets are available at checkout counters or service desk. You can also receive $1000 Cash Bonanza game pieces by mailing a request to $1000 CASH BONANZA, P.O. Box 500A, Chicago, Illinois 60680. One Master Card and concealed number ticket per request, please. A self-addressed envelope must be sent with each request.
2. No purchase necessary to participate. Only one concealed stamped number ticket per store visit. Adults only eligible to play.
3. Simply push out discet portion of each concealed number ticket to separate and reveal Four Round Number Discs. Each concealed number disc will match a number on the Master Card you are playing. Insert each matching number into special discet on the Master Card. For example: Number 958 disc should be inserted into discet number 958 on the Master Card. To help you win, free squares are the same as covered numbers.
4. When you have matched a straight row of four numbers, vertically, horizontally or diagonally on any one of the 6 games on the Master Card, you have won the cash prize shown at the top of that game. Only one cash prize per game, or game card.
5. If a disc shows the words, "You Win $1," you may immediately turn it in to our store manager and receive the cash amount shown.
6. Verification: Winning cards should be taken to store manager only. The Master Card and the matching concealed number discs only must be signed by the customer in the presence of the store manager. You will be given a receipt for your winning game card and after it is verified, you will immediately receive your cash prize from the store manager. Prizes $25 and over will be paid by check. When you turn in your winning game card, you will be given a new Master Card so that you can keep playing and winning $1000 Cash Bonanza. There is no limit to the number of times you can win! Winners consent to the publication of his or her name and photo at discretion of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.
7. Employees (and the I.R.S. listed dependents) of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. and Sterling Traffic Programs, Inc. are ineligible to play. Game is void where taxed or prohibited by law. We reserve the right to reject any $1000 Cash Bonanza game material not obtained legitimately through authorized personnel. We also reserve the right to reject any alleged winning material containing such errors.
8. All prizes must be claimed within 5 days after termination of this promotion as announced in our advertisement.
9. The $1000 Cash Bonanza game is available at 138 Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. stores located in Illinois and Indiana. This promotion is scheduled to end on August 25, 1977. $1000 Cash Bonanza will officially end, however, when all game tickets are distributed.

A&P IT TAKES A LOT TO MAKE A FOOD STORE GREAT... WE'RE WORKING AT IT!

Style cramped by TV family hour

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — "We've finally grown up!" Chris Leachman all but shouts, she's so thrilled to be out of the Family Hour.

Or at least she hopes she's permanently out.

"Phyllis," the CBS television series in which she stars, has been tried out twice recently in a later time slot than usual, and Chris was vastly pleased by the innovation.

"We've been cramped and cramped by the Family Hour," she complains. "No, I can't think of any specific taboos we worked under, but with every script we've felt picked at."

"Censors feel they have to do something to keep their jobs — they'll admit this, you know — so they pick at things."

"And you can't be creative if you have to answer to judges."

"I finally went to the president of CBS about a water bed show we wanted to do."

"It wasn't vulgar in any way. I wouldn't want to do a show like that. But I was afraid it was going to be ruined by the censors, so I went to the president of the network about it."

And, yes, she got to do the show without drastic changes.

It should be emphasized right here that Chris isn't fighting to convert "Phyllis" into a vehicle for the debate of shockingly controversial issues.

She doesn't want it to preach the pros and cons of cannibalism or perversion or even the lesser vices.

"I don't consider it a social commentary," she says, "not that I have anything against social commentary. Anything can be good — or bad."

"There's a matter of timing. Public tastes do seem to go through cycles."

"As for my own tastes, I confess what I like that's on the air now, because I can hardly ever watch television. I don't have time to."

"I've hardly seen any new shows for the past two years."

Chris did see several episodes of "Roots" to which she gave only limited approval. "I didn't like the first show," she says. "They seemed to be speaking words of gold."

"But 'Roots' has affected us all. My mother-in-law (Mabel Albertson, sister of Jack Albertson) called and said she'd called an old aunt to ask her everything she could about the family."

"I love genealogy!"

Though Miss Leachman is the front of souls, she doesn't care to join liberated sisters who've become directors.

"I don't know that I have the patience," she says. "Some people settle for directing what we call in our business fly-bys (short, surface-deep scenes), but I'd want to get into the meat and potatoes."

Her greatest contribution to the "Phyllis" set is her "lovingness and enthusiasm which creates an esprit de corps," Leachman feels.

"I don't just grab the money and run."

"I'm not at all nervous about whether we'll be picked up, because I don't put those feelings into my career. Waiting for pick-up time is a little like being pregnant."

Not all of Chris' almost limitless enthusiasm and energy goes into her show, though. Her family gets a major share, and so does her house which she's perpetually remodeling.

"I'm a home-a-holic," is the way she puts it. "Like the universe, my house just keeps expanding."

"Hey, I just said something poetic. Write that down."

"In fact, why don't you write, 'She said, "I just said something poetic." Write that down.'"

"That's funny."

"Operations and hospital rooms cost a lot more than you think."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

Preceptor Gamma fetes members

Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, held its last meeting of the season in the home of Mrs. Jane Laue, 3 Patricia Lane.

The retiring president, Mrs. Lora Mae Lombardi, turned the emblem of office over to the newly elected officer, Mrs. Pat Tsigalaroff, who conducted the meeting.

An official communication from the Missouri Beta Sigma Phi Sorority announced their state convention will be held at the Breckinridge Pavilion Hotel, St. Louis, on Oct. 28, 29 and 30. Those who wish to attend are urged to make early reservations. It was noted.

Mrs. Arlene Haldeman reported she had visited the International office, Kansas City, Mo., and met with Dorothy Mills of the staff there, who sent greetings to the local group.

Mrs. Lombardi presented charms to the retiring officers, and also donated $5 to the president's fund.

The Order of the Rose was conferred on Norma Rains and Evelyn Tolliver, during the session. The ritual was conducted by Imogene Forrest with other members participating.

A cultural program on "Science Fiction" was presented by Mrs. Rains and Mrs. Tsigalaroff. Prizes were given for the evening was Mrs. Dolores Dorch.

The evening concluded with a pot-luck dinner and barbeque and "Beta buddies" were revealed in a gift exchange, and names were drawn for the forthcoming chapter year. Those attending were Mrs. Lucille Voyles of Edwardsville, a guest and May Ehling, Bea Brackett, Ruth Stoyanoff, Gloria Druhe, Martha Jean Dyer and those mentioned.

TRUCK OVERTURNS
Lavern Porter, 24, Centralia, was injured during the weekend when his tractor-trailer truck jackknifed and overturned, coming to rest on the driver's side. Police found him walking outside of the truck dazed. He suffered a two-inch cut over his left eye and a cut to his lower left leg. X-rays were taken at St. Elizabeth Hospital and he was transferred to Belleville Memorial Hospital.

Let go of teen years — but don't lose touch

By MARION WELLS

What's the difference between a 25-year-old adolescent and a 16-year-old adult? A big factor might be how much each was encouraged to start taking responsibility for himself.

Developing a separate identity and decision-making skills is the basis of the adolescent process, says Richard MacKenzie, M.D., head of the Division of Adolescent Medicine at Children's Hospital of Los Angeles. "You don't get instant maturity the day you turn 21. That's like expecting someone to learn to ride a bike without ever letting them get on."

For example, taking the car without asking may be a teen's way of expressing the need for independence, he added. MacKenzie believes many such situations can be avoided if parents take the initiative. Mom and dad can make it okay for teens to be freeing themselves in healthier ways. A seemingly small event can have a big positive impact.

Suppose Mary asks, "What time do I have to be in from the school prom?" Here's a chance to let her know you realize she's growing up.

You could give her some responsibility, MacKenzie pointed out in a recent interview. "What time do you think you should be in?"

What if she's 14 and she says, "Three o'clock in the morning?" You'll probably have to tell her, "That's pretty late, and I'd be rather concerned. Since it's the prom, how does such and such a time sound?" Then you could begin to bargain, but at least she's had some input. It gives her a chance to enter the decision-making process and then take responsibility for a choice she had some part in making.

MacKenzie says doing some creative listening can help teens develop coping resources. That's a key concept behind the teen "Hotline" run by Children's Hospital.

seemed to be speaking words of gold."

"But 'Roots' has affected us all. My mother-in-law (Mabel Albertson, sister of Jack Albertson) called and said she'd called an old aunt to ask her everything she could about the family."

"I love genealogy!"

Though Miss Leachman is the front of souls, she doesn't care to join liberated sisters who've become directors.

"I don't know that I have the patience," she says. "Some people settle for directing what we call in our business fly-bys (short, surface-deep scenes), but I'd want to get into the meat and potatoes."

Her greatest contribution to the "Phyllis" set is her "lovingness and enthusiasm which creates an esprit de corps," Leachman feels.

"I don't just grab the money and run."

"I'm not at all nervous about whether we'll be picked up, because I don't put those feelings into my career. Waiting for pick-up time is a little like being pregnant."

Not all of Chris' almost limitless enthusiasm and energy goes into her show, though. Her family gets a major share, and so does her house which she's perpetually remodeling.

"I'm a home-a-holic," is the way she puts it. "Like the universe, my house just keeps expanding."

"Hey, I just said something poetic. Write that down."

"In fact, why don't you write, 'She said, "I just said something poetic." Write that down.'"

"That's funny."

"Operations and hospital rooms cost a lot more than you think."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

"That's funny."

Sound, light at old state capitol

"Sound and Light at the Old State Capitol" has begun its second season, State Historian William K. Alderfer has announced. The official Bicentennial gift of the state of Illinois to the citizens of the nation, "Sound and Light" will be presented nightly at 9 o'clock (weather permitting) through Saturday, Sept. 30.

Admission is free to the 45-minute performance. Audiences are seated in a special portable grandstand, seating 400 people, on the south mall of the Old State Capitol plaza in downtown Springfield. "More than 41,000 people attended 'Sound and Light' at the Old State Capitol' during the 69-night season last year," Alderfer said. One night's showing was cancelled by rain. "An audience survey taken during the last two weeks of the 1976 season indicated strong public support for continued presentation of the show for years to come."

Abraham Lincoln's association with the Old Capitol, his political development, and his approach to the issues that precipitated the Civil War are dramatized by the multi-media electronic production. The story is contained on a one-inch, eight-track magnetic tape, 3,400 feet long, moving at 15 feet per second.

The tape plays voices, music, and sound effects over eleven strategically-placed high fidelity speakers. It simultaneously activates more than 160 lighting fixtures to pre-coded color and intensity levels. This technology enables sound and light to exploit the power of suggestion to such a degree that the audience — in its mind's eye — begins to "see and hear" the events that took place when Lincoln lived in Springfield and worked in the Old Capitol, Alderfer believes. Immediately after each presentation, the audience is invited into the lobby of the Old Capitol to view the Illinois State Historical Library's copy of the Gettysburg Address in Lincoln's own handwriting. One of only five such copies extant, it is displayed in a safe specially designed for the purpose. Street and store display lighting adjacent to the Old Capitol is extinguished during "Sound and Light" at the Old State Capitol" to minimize 20th-century distractions.

Street traffic on adjoining streets is also halted. For one hour each evening beginning at 8:45, Sixth Street will be closed at Monroe, Adams at Seventh, Fifth at Jefferson, and Washington at Fourth. "Sound and Light at the Old State Capitol" is operated by the Illinois State Historical Library. Comments or queries regarding the presentation are being directed to: Illinois State Historian, Old State Capitol, Springfield 62706, telephone 217-782-4836.

Solar energy in the future

Although solar energy is working well in some parts of the country, it has not been developed for this area, according to James Crump, executive director of the Southern Illinois Sheet Metal Association.

Crump spoke at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club in the YMCA. The speaker said that if solar energy developments continue at their present rate there will be a definite cost savings within ten years.

It was explained that the storage of solar energy is a major problem here, as during January there were 30 days without sun light which is required for the system.

In this area a person would need a completely separate heating system, in addition to the solar system, for extended periods without sunlight.

Rotarian Don Farney was the program chairman and introduced the speaker. Members were reminded that the club's installation dinner will be Friday, June 17, at the Sunset Hills Country Club. Cost is $11.50 per person. Rotarian Bob Jones is the ticket chairman.

Officers to be installed are: President, Don Farney; first vice-president, Steve Bristol; retiring president to become second vice-president, Greg Schmiege, secretary, and Paul Sodko, treasurer.

DRAPED IN PATRIOTISM David Bassoo, 8, of Cub Scout Pack 8, holds his salute, despite winds wrapping his flag around him during Memorial Day ceremonies at Memorial Park, across from St. Elizabeth Hospital. The flag ceremony followed the annual Parade of Flags from downtown to the park. David's birthday also was Monday.

Bible school at Hope Lutheran

The summertime vacation Bible school at Hope Lutheran Church will begin Monday, June 6, at 7 p.m., according to the Rev. David Fielding, pastor.

Each evening session will last from 7 to 9 p.m. Puppet shows, Bible lessons, singing, refreshments and handicraft programs will be featured.

Many members of the church have volunteered to teach and assist in this year's Bible school. The theme will be "The Christian Church."

Members of the community are being invited to attend. Classes will begin at age three and continue through those entering the eighth grade.

Pre-registration will be Monday evening at 6:30. Hope Lutheran church is located at 3715 Wabash Ave.

SLIDES ON GRAVEL Rick Barnett, 19, of 2614 Altior Ave., Madison, was injured when he was thrown from his motorcycle and slid across a gravel road. He suffered abrasions to his left shoulder, chest, ribs, right elbow, forearm and both knees. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was released.

Average salary rate kept down

By BOB ESTILL
SPRINGFIELD — State employees under Gov. James Thompson's jurisdiction aren't the only ones being asked to go without whopping across-the-board pay hikes in fiscal 1978.

In most cases, average salaries proposed for employees of other elected and appointed state officials are relatively close to the current level.

A check of the Bureau of the Budget's newly-released "Illinois Personnel Detail" shows most proposed average annual salaries are less than $1,000 above the current rates.

Average salaries are computed by the budget-makers by dividing the personnel budget for a given agency by the number of jobs. The average thus can be raised or lowered by changing the number of jobs as well as by raising the pay but the number of jobs remains stable in most agencies.

The average salary for employees on Thompson's Executive Office and Executive Mansion payrolls is the highest among the elected officials' payrolls. The average is $18,571-a-year, based on 82 jobs at a total cost of $1.34 million.

Thompson increased the office and mansion budgets by about $600,000 in an attempt to more accurately reflect the number of personnel in the "front office" or mansion work.

His predecessors, most notably Richard Ogilvie and Dan Walker, kept those budgets lower by placing on departmental payrolls persons working directly for the governor. Walker held the average for the current fiscal year to $14,759 by showing only 56 persons at a total cost of $826,500 on the office and mansion payrolls.

LI Gov. Dave O'Neal, with the smallest staff of any elected state official, has the second highest salary average — $14,881. That's based on 18 jobs at a total cost of $264,253. His predecessor, Neil Hartigan, had 18 employees at a cost of $254,153 for an average of $14,120.

Atty. Gen. William Scott's average salary figure is shooting up by about $1,000 — the largest increase among the elected officials' budgets (there are bigger increases in other departments and agencies).

The average Scott employee will get $11,767 if the budget is approved, compared with an average of $10,732 in the current year. Scott's proposed budget calls for 696 employees at a cost of $8.19 million; his current budget provides for 684 employees at a cost of $7.34 million.

Secy. of State Alan Dixon is the second largest employer among the state officials. The average in his office is moving up from $10,993 to $11,438 as Dixon moves from a $40.38 million personnel budget and 3,747 jobs to a $45 million budget with 3,983 jobs.

The average in Comptroller Michael Bakalis' office is increasing slightly — from $11,358 to $11,683 even though he is cutting the number of employees from 417 to 394. There's a slight increase in the average since the personnel budget is being cut back only from $4.73 million to $4.4 million. State Treasurer Donald Smith is the only state official showing a reduction in the average — from $11,086 in the current budget to $10,906 in the proposed budget. He's holding personnel spending at the current level of $1,117,500 while adding one job to bring the total to 102 jobs. The average salaries shouldn't be interpreted as a guide to where the biggest paying jobs are.

Major departments, such as Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, can have a low average even with an abundance of high-paying jobs because there is a multitude of low-paid clerks to hold the average down.

Despite the number of $25,000-and-up jobs in Mental Health, the average there is only $11,564. That's near the bottom of the scale among the 22 Personnel Code covered departments under the governor. The lowest proposed average is the Veterans Affairs — $10,219. The highest is the $16,251 average in Business and Economic Development. In both cases the average is less than $800 above the current average. The biggest increase in the averages among the code departments is in the Department of Finance, which is scheduled to be merged with General Services. The current Finance average is $14,342, based on 30 jobs and a budget of $1,147,326; the proposed average would be $15,717 based on 79 jobs at a cost of $1,241,649. The highest averages aren't found among the code departments nor the elected officials but among the "watch dogs." Topping the list is the Judicial Inquiry Board, which lists 5.5 jobs at a cost of

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., June 2, 1977 Page 26

$121,972 for an average of $22,177 for reviewing complaints filed against judges. That is not the only judicial arm which does well. The average salary proposed for the 28-employee Court Administrator's office is $17,569; the average for the seven-member 4th District Appellate Court clerk's office is $16,118. The Fiscal watchdogs fare well. The proposed average among Auditor Gen. Robert Crouson's 64 employees is $17,998. Drafting budgets can be profitable. The proposed average for the 88 Bureau of the Budget employees is $17,821. That also is one of the bigger proposed increases. In current fiscal year, the average for 67 BOB employees is $16,477.

Citizens seek quiet—at easy distance

SPRINGFIELD — Americans may be turning inward, seeking tranquility and a more relaxed life in smaller communities.

But few appear willing to abandon entirely the advantages of city living or the special attractions that can be provided only by the metropolitan cities.

Husbands still want to see big league baseball or a professional football game occasionally. Wives still appreciate a play or a concert.

The development of the Interstate highway network has made access to the great cities relatively easy. In Illinois it is becoming evident that those cities with an interstate within several hours driving time of Chicago or St.

Louis are providing attractive places in which to live.

But there is another big advantage for a city located on one or several Interstates. It can draw workers and shoppers from a much larger area than was the case a few years ago.

To many families, giving up on big city living, even a medium-sized city is too big for their desires. Accumulating studies show that more and more families are moving all the way back to small communities to a kind of peaceful life that parents knew in their childhood and now want for their own children.

But, there remains the question of making a living.

Small towns, although now fully capable of creating their own water and sewer systems, good schools and maintaining excellent streets, cannot generate jobs.

These must come from a city of about 100,000. The trick is to find a satisfactory job in a medium-sized city located on an Interstate that provides comparatively easy commuting by car, a half-hour or so each way.

Curtis C. Roseman, associated professor of geography at the University of Illinois, in an article in the Illinois Business Review, touched on this issue.

He found that many people now living in urban areas would like to live in small towns or a rural setting, but added that they would like to be within 30 miles of a large city.

Such a trend appears to be developing in Illinois. Smaller towns within easy driving reach of a city are growing in population while those in more remote areas, far removed from Interstates are continuing to stagnate or decline.

But the handiness of Interstates is not an unmitigated blessing for the medium-sized cities hopefully working toward even better times.

For these cities have begun acquiring, in much smaller dimensions, some of the problems that plague the big cities like Chicago.

Even in the medium cities there is a pronounced trend of migration to fringe areas and older, established small towns, many of which are undergoing a revival.

Springfield Mayor Telford concedes that some losses of population to the suburbs is a problem.

"Oh yes, of course it is. A lot of people blame the school district on that. They don't think the Springfield school district is as good as those in the small communities. Whether that's true or not I don't know. But I've asked people why they've moved out and it's for that particular reason."

Steve Sargent, executive director of the Illinois Municipal League, agrees that the schools situation is a factor in population shifts to the suburbs in a number of Illinois cities.

"I think busing has had a lot to do with it. People have moved because they wanted their kids to go to a good grade school."

Another factor cited by Sargent in the city to suburbs trend is that raw land in rural areas can be developed by real estate promoters much cheaper than land in a city. City ordinances require such things as water and sewer systems, sidewalks and other facilities. In fringe areas developers can often rely on septic tanks and wells and forget about sidewalks.

Sargent also mentions antiquated annexation laws which are sometimes a handicap to cities seeking to expand their geographical boundaries.

Like Chicago, the medium cities have problems with older, deteriorated areas which are eyesores and represent a loss of potential revenue.

However, Sargent says that virtually every sizable city in the state is at work on some kind of rehabilitation program ranging from housing to development of convention centers.

Telford says Springfield is allocating more than $2 million a year from various sources on housing programs for its blighted areas. If a proposed program by the Catholic Diocese is approved by the federal government this will mean an additional $7 to $8 million boost for housing and related development.

Another major problem for the medium cities is preservation and improvement of older downtown commercial areas as a result of the trend to developing huge shopping centers on the edges of cities.

But Sargent says most cities have managed to include outlying shopping centers within their city limits and thus benefit from housing to development of convention centers.

He notes that about every city has some program underway to revitalize their downtown area. Many have used the mail device. Others are exploiting individual assets.

Henry Crippen, Pastor

Psalm 143:9 Deliver me O Lord, from mine enemies: I flee unto thee to hide me.
I doubt if there is any one in the world who doesn't have enemies. Not necessarily flesh and blood, but in an enemy. It is worry, doubt, and uncertainty about the course of our lives. Any thing that hinders our progress and well being may be considered an enemy.
There is a solution to all our troubles. It is the same as the Psalmist himself used: "I will flee unto thee." We draw right unto God. He will draw right to us. Christ came that we might have life and have it more abundantly. If we could but learn to cast our cares on Him! He cares for us.
If you can identify your problems I can identify the solution.
Christ is the answer for your today.

Not enough women in state's cabinet?

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — Gov. James Thompson appointed three women to his Cabinet. That's the most women to serve in a Cabinet in Illinois history.

"I'm really not satisfied so far," said Nina Shepherd of Winnetka, a member of the University of Illinois board of trustees who has worked with Thompson in an attempt to bring more women into government.

"There is better than two in the Cabinet," she said, "but that's no remarkable innovation. Things don't appear to have changed much over the past."

"We're particularly interested in the appointments to boards and commissions because we can build a pool of expertise there."

"To be fair to the governor, and I want to be fair, we have to wait to see if there is really change or progress."

Parley Peters, director of the Illinois Women's Lobby, says Thompson is dragging his feet on the appointment of a women's advocate as a front-office aide.

"Basically, what the problem is, is that management has to have a definite commitment to affirmative action," Peters said. "It has to come from within the administration."

"Since the change in administrations, women have not received positive feedback. Strides are not being made in this area."

"The appointment of three women to the Cabinet is superficial, it's tokenism. It's not backed up by any other action," Peters said.

Both Shepherd and Peters are Democrats.

William Boys, a Republican and the director of the Department of Personnel, offers a more optimistic outlook.

"I think current government figures show a fairly significant number in upper and middle management," he said.

"At the Executive 11 level and above (approximate salary of $15,000), 20 per cent are women. The governor does have a commitment to this and I think it's being demonstrated."

Payroll figures computed by Comptroller Mike Bakalis' office show that approximately 10 per cent of the employees earning $20,000 or more in the governor's departments are women.

Children and Family Services has the greatest number of women in top paying positions. Of the 176 employees listed on the comptroller's report as earning $20,000 or better, 60 are women.

Public Aid has the next best percentage, 46 of 182.

After that, the percentage drops considerably. Here's a breakdown based on our own calculations: Aging, one of nine; Agriculture, none of 35; Business and Economic Development, three of 28; Conservation, seven of 63; Corrections, seven of 225; Finance, one of 21; General Services, one of 46; Insurance, one of 21; Labor, 15 of 142; Law Enforcement, three of 183; Local Government, three of 20; Mines and Minerals, one of 21.

Also, Personnel, six of 47; Public Health, 15 of 120; Registration and Education, three of 86; Revenue, four of 146; Veterans' Administration, two of 18; and Environmental Protection Agency, five of 113.

(We didn't count Mental Health or Transportation because they are too large. Mental Health has 1,234 employees earning $20,000 or better and DOT has 778.)

This comptroller's report was run through the computer March 1.

On that date, none of the governor's 13 employees in the front-office earning $20,000 were women.

LI Gov. Dave O'Neal has one female employee earning $20,000. Three males are making that much.

Five of the 77 employees earning $20,000 in Atty. Gen. William Scott's office are women.

Secy. of State Alan Dixon has eight of 190 making that much.

Treasurer Donald Smith has no women and six men making $20,000.

But call's figures were not easy to determine on the computer print-out because his payroll includes other state officials, including legislators.

Of the 42 highest paid staff members of the Legislature, two are women.

The Legislature does have the highest percentage of women elected to office of the three branches of government.

Of the 236 legislators, 21 are women. No woman has ever served on the Illinois Supreme Court and none currently serves as an elected state official.

Both Shepherd and Peters are Democrats.

Letter from Washington

by Senator Charles H. Percy

The Social Security System, which provides benefits to one out of every seven Americans, is running out of funds. The System is paying out more money than employers and employees are paying into it. Without additional financing, the trust fund for the disabled will dry up in 1979 and the trust fund for retired workers, dependents and survivors will run out of money in 1983.

Congress must take every step necessary to guarantee the financial stability of the Social Security System. And, we must act soon to avert serious financial trouble.

President Carter has proposed that the System draw money from the Federal Treasury's general revenue fund to assist in making up deficits. I am most leary of this approach to meeting the needs of the Social Security System. It would force the System to compete with every other Federal program for funds. What is more, it could turn the System into a general welfare program. Instead of a contributory insurance program under which workers earn their entitlement to benefits.

Social Security is a contributory system funded by

CROCK POT AND BEANS

With all the popularity of crock-pot cooking, and the need, always, for protein in our meals at a reasonable price today we'll talk about dried beans.

Dried beans are so classic that many people just take them for granted. Dried beans also have a humble reputation. Folks associate beans with cheaper foods. Well, that's the very point. I want to make today: the economy of beans, the fact that for the money, it's hard to beat the nourishment beans offer.

Think also of the warm weather ahead and how convenient it would be to plug in your electric crock-pot out of doors. In your backyard, patio, back porch or balcony. The beans can be cooking for all the hours necessary without heating up your kitchen.

BEANS consist of about 22 percent protein. This compares with beef being about 18 percent protein, and eggs 13 percent. But to get the most value from beans, you should combine them with other foods. Why? Because the protein in beans and other plant protein foods is what they call "incomplete."

Proteins are composed of 22 amino acids, many of which can be synthesized by the body. But eight of the amino acids cannot be so synthesized. They must be obtained from the food we eat. To get along, our bodies need foods that supply all of these essential amino acids in the proper proportions.

Milk, fish, poultry, eggs and meat all contain what nutritionists call "complete" proteins. This means they contain the essential amino acids that your body cannot make for itself. And these foods also contain certain amounts of these amino acids. Dried beans and other plant protein foods contain some of all 22 amino acids but lack in varying amounts some of the essential amino acids that are deemed essential.

THE historic trick with beans (and other plant protein foods) is to serve them with a food that contains the elements of protein that the beans lack. This makes the whole "mix" for that meal complete at less cost than if you ate a complete protein food alone.

This is why ham and beans are so popular. This is why bean soup is made with ham hocks. This is why there are so many canned food products that offer beans and bacon, pork and beans, and so forth. And beans, peas or nuts also can be combined with grain to enhance the protein. Examples include baked beans and brown bread, beans and tortilla, beans and rice, or a peanut butter sandwich.

BEANS, to put it bluntly, are terrific nutrition, especially for what they cost. So buy some dried beans (black, pinto, kidney, or navy beans). Soak them overnight and then follow the directions for "crock-potting" them at "low" or "high" heat.

Wage settlement to boost steel costs

Cost of producing steel under the new labor settlement in the steel industry is expected to increase about 4 per cent during the first year and about 3 per cent in each of the two succeeding years, the Council on Wage and Price Stability at Washington said this week.

The council based its estimate on an assumed 6 per cent inflation rate to calculate cost-of-living allowances and an assumed 2.5 per cent annual increase in productivity.

Noting that even before the settlement hourly earnings of steelworkers were higher and pay increases bigger than those of other factory workers, the council said the agreement "puts added pressure on manufacturers to increase prices and could influence other important negotiations this year."

Without drawing any broad critical conclusions, council members noted that from January 1967 to January 1977, the earnings for steelworkers jumped 122.7 per cent to $8.63 an hour, while the earnings of all manufacturing workers increased 97.1 per cent to $5.46 per hour. These figures include overtime pay.

Under the new settlement, the council said, for employees of the ten companies covered, wages and cost-of-living allowances will increase 14.4 per cent in the first year and $2.02 an hour or 29.7 per cent, over the life of the pact. Fringe benefits will increase 78 cents an hour in the first year and $1.77 over the three years.

Booths available for GC Jaycee Homecoming

Booth spaces are available for the traditional Jaycee Homecoming celebration, sponsored each summer by the Granite City Jaycees. It was announced today by Jerry Ganz, president of the young men's service organization.

The homecoming event will take place Thursday, June 16, through Sunday, June 19, in the parking area at Nameoki Village Shopping Center, directly in front of the former W. T. Grant's store.

Youth organizations, service and civic clubs and church groups wishing to reserve a booth for the four-day homecoming are invited to call Al DeLay, at 876-8823. DeLay, Mike Bledsoe and John Jones are serving as co-chairmen of the project, Ganz advised. Any of the three may be contacted for further information.

Carival rides and live musical entertainment are planned during the four-day celebration.

1977 CONFIRMANTS of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, received into the membership of the church at a Sunday morning service. They were welcomed by William Hayes, president of the church council. Front row from left, Mary Kettelhut, Carol Kidman, David Houston, Steven Mann, Mack Row, Scott Buenger, Brent Houston, Tim Grove and the Rev. Robert Kettelhut, pastor.

FACES TWO CHARGES

Terry M. Bellman, 23, of 2713 Maryville Road, was arrested at home early this week and was charged with assault for allegedly threatening the life of his father-in-law, George Lewis. Lewis signed a complaint against him. Bellman also was served a warrant alleging disorderly conduct at Lewis' home May 1. Bellman was released after posting $100 cash bond.

SUMMER REGISTRATION

Registration for summer sessions at St. Louis University will be held June 6 and 20 in Busch Memorial Center, Grand and Laclede. Eight-week day and evening course registration will be from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, June 6, with classes beginning June 7. Six-week day course registration will be from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. June 21. Most classes will meet Monday through Thursday.

AUTO PARTS STOLEN

About $4,700 worth of automotive parts, including a $3,500 engine, were stolen from a garage at 7071 Meadow Lane, Mitchell, which is used for storage by Larry Arnold, Rural Route Two, Box 791, Granite City. There were no signs of forced entry.

DeMolays compete in state track tournament

The James Stuart Chapter's trail team competed in the Illinois DeMolay track and field meet at Illinois State University in Bloomington-Normal, with the 880-yard relay team of Dennis Worthen, William Skinner, David Ebrecht and Karl Ebrecht placing second.

The 440-yard relay team of Dennis Worthen, Norman Burgess, Karl Ebrecht and David Ebrecht — took third place.

David Ebrecht placed fourth in the 220-yard dash while William Skinner tied for fourth in the high jump event.

Others on the squad were: Jim Hays, Bob Cochran and Tom Ebrecht. They were accompanied by Advisers: Ellis Hackney Jr. and Bill Cochran.

Medals were awarded to individuals for the first three places in all scheduled events by three chapters' DeMolay sweethearts to conclude the meet.

The Stanley Garrity Chapter of Pinley Park won the state title.

Illinois DeMolays also held a leadership retreat at the East Bay Camp on Lake Bloomington.

Attending the two-day training event from here were: Kelly Smith, master counselor; Dennis Worthen, senior counselor; Norman Burgess Jr., junior counselor; Kirk Potillo, treasurer; and Advisor Charles A. Meyer.

Two charged

Granite City detectives went to Rolla, Mo., Wednesday to arrest Allen R. Henderson, 18, and Glendal F. Jackson, 17, both of 3039 Myrtle Ave.

The two were arrested by the Missouri Highway Patrol near Rolla Tuesday and allegedly were driving a Wagner Trucking Co. pickup truck. They were returned here and were charged with a felony count of theft against each for allegedly stealing the truck here earlier Tuesday.

CONVERTIBLE STOLEN

A red over white 1974 Cadillac convertible was stolen from the used car lot at State Auto Sales, 1730 State St., between 4:30 p.m. Tuesday and 8:30 a.m. Wednesday. James Gibson, owner of the auto agency, said he has the only known set of keys to the auto.

Negotiations with teachers discussed

The Madison School Board met Tuesday in a special meeting to discuss negotiations with teachers concerning a new contract.

A board spokesman said there was no action taken. No problems are anticipated, he said.

The board will hold a regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the board office, 1707 Fourth St., Madison.

Swimming and diving lessons at Paddlers

The Paddlers' Swim Club will hold swimming lessons beginning Monday, June 6, and continuing through Friday, June 17, for boys, and from Monday, June 20, through Sunday, June 27, for girls.

Swimming lessons for beginners, ages five years and over, are from 9 a.m. until 9:30 a.m.; intermediates, 9:45 a.m. until 10:15 a.m.; and advanced swimmers, 10:30 a.m. until 11 a.m.

Stan Manogian will give the swimming lessons and can be reached at 877-3543 for more information.

Diving lessons will also begin on Monday, June 6, and end Friday, June 17, from 11 a.m. until noon. Mrs. Gayle McCormick will be in charge of the 11 a.m. - 12 noon diving lessons and may be reached by phoning 931-0726.

The diving team will start practice Monday from 9:30 a.m. until 10:45 a.m. Cost of lessons is $10 for members of the Paddlers Swim Club and $15 for non-members.

CONTINUE NEGOTIATIONS
A negotiating session which started yesterday between officials of Archer Daniels Midland Co. and striking Longshoremen's Local 1706 was continuing today with a federal mediator in St. Louis. Some officials are viewing the two-day negotiating session as a sign that the strike — which has closed the ADM soybean processing plant and grain elevator on Carlgill Road since April 1 — may be nearing an end.

YOUTH FLEES HOUSE
A short youth was seen fleeing from the home of Mary Turner, 2910 E. 24th St., in Anchorage Homes, after a neighbor saw him inside and screamed at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Turner and several friends were in her front lawn when the youth cut the rear screen door and climbed in. The neighbor saw him before he stole anything, authorities believe. He was described as about 5 feet, 4 inches tall and having shoulder-length brown hair.

GC MAN UNDERGOES MAJOR SURGERY
John Stanek, 2901 Jerden Ave., underwent major surgery on May 25 at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

According to his wife, Mrs. Mary Stanek, he is recovering well and is in Room 8426 of the hospital.

Girl Scout Troops host awards banquet

A banquet for mothers and members of the Brownie and Girl Scout Troops sponsored by Marshall School was held in the school cafeteria, followed by the presentation of badges, stars and honors earned by the girls during the year.

Mrs. Joan Stark, leader of Brownie Troop 140, gave the welcoming address and Mrs. Linda Pollette, Neighborhood Chairman, spoke prior to the awards ceremony.

Co-leader Mrs. Diane Swift assisted with the ceremony and Girl Scout Troop 709, gave the flag ceremony.

A fly-up ceremony for those who advanced to the next level of scouting was conducted by Mrs. Stark, Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Nancy Wickham.

Those who participated were Donna Ackman, Dawn Aichey, Lynda Baker, Cara Crews, Sheryl Dawson, Chris Finko, Christy McDaniels, Michelle Smith, Elizabeth Stark, Cheryl Swift, Shawn Weinhold, Kathy Weakley, Kristen Weatherford and Theresa Weinberger.

Also present were other members of Brownie Troop 140, Lori Day, Kim Kessler, Veronica Morris, Shelly Nash, Jerri Weakley, Cheryl Weinberger, Girl Scout Troop, Christine Balthorn, Julia Blackwood, Angie Bugg, Melanie Grady, Chris Jones, Carla Nicol, Debbie Rutledge, Sherry Segedy, Dawn Stocklosa, Marcie Wendy Yates and leaders Mrs. Wickham and Mrs. Judy Blackwood.

Also Brownie Troop 352, Linda Ackman, Jeannie Clark, Jennifer Morton, Kim Rushing, Jayne Smith, Elizabeth Stocklosa, Rochelle Wallace and leader Mrs. Joyce Angle, and guest Mrs. Sandy Townzen.

MRS. CLARA OSTER, cafeteria worker at Mitchell School who is retiring at the end of this school term, accepting a gift from Arthur Menendez, school principal.

Area Council of PTA's presents scholarship

The Granite City Area Council of PTA's presented Miss Robin Shelton, a South High School senior, with a $250 Cultural Arts Scholarship, for her achievement and talent in art.

She was chosen from applications presented to the scholarship committee headed by Mrs. Brenda Withers, from the Music, Drama and Art Department of North and South High Schools.

During the annual meeting of the Area Council, final committee reports were given by Mrs. Olivia Parrish, juvenile protection, health and safety; Mrs. Barbara Haddock, membership; Mrs. Withers, scholarship; Dale Rea, school board representative; and Bob Kirgan, legislation.

Mrs. Phyllis Currins, district director of Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, installed the officers for the 1977-78 school year.

Those to serve for the forthcoming year are Mrs. Barbara Haddock, president; Mrs. Julie Gates, vice-president; Mrs. Dorothy Baker, recording secretary; Mrs. Karen Hutchings, corresponding secretary and Max Mills, treasurer.

Mrs. Haddock announced nine delegates from the council and local units attended the state convention in April. The new presidents representing each local unit were introduced after the ceremonies.

Logan School PTA unit hosted the meeting and served refreshment; to 25 members, under the direction of Mrs. Alma Burnett.

Amvets Auxiliary installs officers

Amvets Auxiliary Post No. 51 are announcing the officers for 1977-78 as follows, President - Mrs. Marge Smith; Senior Vice - Mrs. Barbara Siebert; Junior Vice - Mrs. Melba Manning; Secretary - Mrs. Charlotte Terragrosa; Treasurer - Mrs. Ann Tucker; Chaplain - Mrs. Trudy McGowan; Sergeant at arms - Mrs. Jackie Petras; P.R.O. and historian - Mrs. Betty Wilkins.

Election was held at the regular meeting May at the post home 5100 Lakeview Drive with President Trudy McGowan in charge.

Report was given by Mrs. Melba Manning stating that a wheelchair has been rented for a child and that eyeglasses will be purchased for a student of Grigsby School.

Chaplain, Mrs. Jackie Petras reported that several get well cards have been sent to the hospital and flowers to persons in the hospital.

Hospital Chairman, Mrs. Ann Tucker, who is also the Department of Illinois VAVS Representative to John Cockran Hospital, reviewed a party for the patients of John Cockran. The project was a success with 15 patients attending the party.

Volunteers were Mrs. Tucker and her husband Floyd Tucker, Glenda Brockman - Division 5 president, and Trudy McGowan - auxiliary president.

Following the party sandwiches and punch were served to those attending and also approximately 50 bed patients, staff members, and visitors at the hospital. Mrs. Tucker also reported that three 80-cup coffee urns have been purchased as well as 5000 razors to be presented to the John Cockran and Jefferson Barracks Hospitals. This project was financed by the Amvets Department of Illinois Service Foundation, it was noted.

A special visit is being planned by Mrs. Tucker, and Mrs. Jackie Petras, to Mrs. Martha Lengyl, past department of Illinois president, who is a patient at Shelter Care Nursing Home in Edwardsville.

Mrs. Lengyl is a life member of Post No. 51.

Newly elected president, Marge Smith announced that the Amvets and Amvets Auxiliary held Memorial Service at City Hall Monday at 10:30 a.m. Amvets of Post No. 51 were to hang flags along Madison Avenue beginning at 8:30 a.m. and then will return to the post home for breakfast which was prepared and served by the ladies of the Auxiliary.

Also planned was a barbecue pot-luck supper for the same evening.

Mrs. Smith also announced that appointed officers for the coming term will be: Liaison - Lorena Varner; S.O.S. and Care - Jackie Petras; Americanism - Glenda Brockman; Ways and Means - Betty Wilkins; Parliamentarian - Betty Wilkins; Ward and Scholarship - Trudy McGowan; Hospital - Ann Tucker.

Formal installation of officers was held during the weekend.

UNDERCOATING - RALPH'S TEXACO 22ND & MADISON AVE.

Conference delegates selected

The Harmony Class of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met in the church for a pot-luck supper for the regular May meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dix and Mr. and Mrs.

Fred Stuch with hosts. Raymond Dix gave the devotional lesson taken from a sermon by the Rev. William B. Ward entitled "Life's Perplexing Question."

Plans were made to send two members of the class to the Methodist Men's Conference at Perdue University in July.

Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reimers, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Compton, Mr. and Mrs. John Lerch, Mrs. Ruby Corbin, Mrs. Ruth Purkey, Mrs. Velma Rice, and two guests, Charles Kelleys and John Mark Lerch Jr.

Workshop on school leadership by women

A current topic of educational concern - women in school leadership positions - will be examined in an intensive four-day summer workshop offered by the School of Education and the Department of Educational Administration at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Stefan P. Krchniak, associate professor of educational administration and instructor-coordinator for the workshop, said the sessions will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, July 11-14. Titled "Current Problems in Educational Administration: Women as Administrative Team Members," the course (EDAD 505) will offer four graduate quarter hours of credit.

Other members of the instructional staff will include Paula Silver, University of Tulsa, consultant, College of Education, Department of Professional Studies, and several resource persons, including: Grace Duff, deputy superintendent, Illinois Office of Education; Martha O'Malley, regional superintendent of schools, St. Clair County; Allan Patton, assistant regional superintendent of schools, Franklin County; and Rosemarie Archangel, Rosandra Richards and Ruth Cook, all members of the SIUE faculty.

Krchniak said the goal of the course is "to familiarize practicing aspirant administrators, teachers and interested lay persons with the current status of women in education, with particular emphasis on administrative roles."

He said he expects participants to obtain a higher-level understanding of career planning and opportunity; Title IX and Women's Educational Equity Act, including funding guidelines; sex-role differentiation in education; and Illinois and national trends.

Mrs. Hayes is shower honoree

A cradle shower was given at Suburban Baptist Church this week, honoring Mrs. Randy (Brenda) Hayes, by Mrs. Helen Cook and daughters, Mrs. Donna Kopitsky and Miss Deana Peterson.

Several games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Dea Smith, Nancy Smith, and Mrs. Beverly Hartenbach, of Springfield, sister of Mrs. Hayes.

Mitchell PTA hosts breakfast

The Mitchell PTA honored Miss Reba Jo Gunter, Mrs. Clara Mae Oster and Mrs. Ruth Schroeder at the annual Teachers Breakfast given last week at the school for teachers and employees.

Mrs. Betty Paschdag, PTA president, presented gifts to Miss Gailna fifth grade teacher and Mrs. Oster, cafeteria worker on their retirement. A hanging plant was also given to Mrs. Schroeder, school nurse, who is leaving the school district this year.

Springtime decorations and guest favors were prepared by Mrs. Carol Meyer. During the breakfast, the room mothers were in charge of the classes.

MARRIED. Sergeant-Major and Mrs. Ronald R. Offt who were united in marriage at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. The bride is the former Miss Kathleen Lane, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Lane, 2121 Missouri Ave. (Continued on Page 42)

Kathleen Lane becomes Mrs. Ronald R. Offt

Miss Kathleen Marie Lane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward William Lane, 2121 Missouri Ave. and Sergeant-Major Ronald R. Offt, son of Mrs. Linda Offt, Vinton, Iowa, and the late Raymond Offt were united in marriage on May 6 at the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Roy Baugh officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony. A program of nuptial selections were played by Miss Lisa Groothuis on the organ, Paul Mahry sang "Sabbath Prayer", "The Wedding Song", and the Agape Choir sang "Take This Bread" as the couple partook of communion.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length gown of white organza over taffeta. Floral Venice lace applied the Empire bodice, edged the Queen Anne neckline and also trimmed the cuffs on the long full sheer sleeves. A slightly gathered A-line skirt was hemmed with a deep flounce also edged with lace and extended into a full chapel train.

A lace covered camolot cap secured the fingertip veil bordered with matching lace. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids with blue tinted baby's breath and sprenzel fern.

The maid of honor Miss Jacqueline Haselhorst and the bridesmaids, Miss Renee Schmidt and Mrs. Sharon Stueck, a sister of the groom, were matching gowns of ivory chiffon which fashioned the Empire bodices trimmed with rows of Chantilly lace forming the square yoke, circling the high stand-up collar and trimmed the long full sheer sleeves. Powder blue satin fashioned a set-in shirred cummerbund of the long A-line skirts terminating with deep flounces. Matching blue picture hats were trimmed with satin ribbons, long streamers with clusters of flowers which matched the nosegays they carried of white daisies, blue silk roses, blue star flowers and dried Geranium statice. The groom chose Jim Stueck, a brother-in-law, as his best man, Darrell Eickoff, Bradley Lane, a brother of the bride, Manley Thomas and Richard Winkelman served as groomsmen and ushers.

Renee Stueck, a niece of the groom, attended the guest book, Miss Angela Ashcraft and Miss Rachelle Stueck, a niece of the groom, served as candlelighters, and Miss Angela Stueck, another niece of the groom, gave each guest a remembrance scroll from the bride and groom.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Lane chose a powder blue long sleeved gown with a bib front of sequins and pearls. Both mothers carried corsages of white gardenias. Friends and relatives were entertained at a buffet reception following the wedding at the Croatian Home.

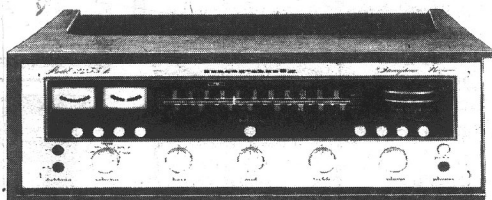

Out of town guests here for the wedding included, Mrs. Murrell Ritchie, Lisle, Ill., Mrs. Ellsworth Fierling, Hinsdale, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Stan Lynch, Gassville, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, and son, Vienna, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin, Dixon, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Foster of Decatur, Ill., Mrs. James McDuffy, and son of Anchorage, Alaska, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Simmons and daughter of Tuckerman, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGilford, of Lomard, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. George Bridges, Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lang, Mainer, Iowa; Mrs. Gloria Neuhaus and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schulz of Deep River, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wieditz, Vinton, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Offt, and son of Blairtown, Iowa; Mrs. Elsie Albers of Mount Auburn, Iowa and Mrs. Francis Wieditz, Garrison, Iowa.

Members of the wedding party and their escorts were entertained at a rehearsal dinner held at the Heritage House, St. Louis, by the groom's mother, Mrs. Linda Offt.

Three U.S. programs aid Madison Countyans hit by this year's drought

Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) has announced three federal programs to assist residents of Madison and St. Clair counties who have suffered the effects of the 1976-77 drought.

The Small Business Administration has declared both counties an Economic Injury Disaster area, Price said.

This means that SBA is now authorized to make or guarantee long-term loans to businesses affected by the drought. Only businesses and farmers are eligible for the SBA loans, which may be used to provide working capital and to pay financial obligations which the borrower would have been able to meet had it not been for the disaster.

To qualify, a business must prove not only a loss of revenue, but also that it has been placed in a position of some jeopardy as a result of the drought. The SBA will approve these loans at a 6% per cent rate of interest. Additionally, the Department of Agriculture, through the Farmers Home Administration, is accepting applications for emergency loans for farmers to replace crop production losses. These loans, repayable at 5 percent interest over an average period of seven years, are available through July 29, Cong. Price stated.

The Department of Commerce, Economic Development Administration, also has a drought assistance program for which St. Clair and Madison counties are eligible. Price said. "Under the Community Emergency Drought Relief Act of 1977, the Economic Development Administration is authorized to approve grants and loans to individuals and businesses with populations of 10,000 or more within the two-county area. Communities under 10,000 population and rural areas will be served by FHA.

Cong. Price explained that the drought relief funds may be used for the improvement, expansion or construction of water supply systems; the purchase and transportation of water to provide relief to a drought area; or for the promotion of water conservation.

Projects which reduce or eliminate immediate threats to public health or safety will be emphasized. Price was advised by EDA that grants covering up to 50 per cent of the cost of the project or loans at 5 per cent interest providing up to 100 per cent of the cost will be available through September 30, the project approval deadline.

For further information, Cong. Price suggested that interested individuals or groups contact the appropriate federal agency.

SBA Loans: Small Business Administration, 219 South Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., or Small Business Administration, Illinois National Bank Building, One North Old State Capital Plaza, Springfield, Ill.

Farmers Home: Farmers Home Administration, P.O. Box 246, Nashville, Ill. 62263; EDA Loans and Grants: Economic Development Administration, 1025 Civic Towers Building, 32 West Randolph St., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

THIRD ANNUAL FIELD DAY. Students of Sacred Heart School participate in a softball throwing game in which they try to toss a ball through a three-foot ring from about 35 feet away. The field day events last week were coordinated by Mrs. Kathy Ellis, physical education teacher at the school. Teachers and room mothers were in charge of the games and refreshments during the field day which marks the end of school each year.

'Field day' at Sacred Heart

Sacred Heart School held its third annual field day last week, with the children spending the day playing different types of games and receiving awards.

Room mothers, plus volunteer mothers, assisted the teachers in the activities planned by the physical education teacher, Mrs. Ellis. Lunch was served to students and adults attending.

Ribbons were awarded for first place.

There also were many second and third-place prizes given, plus numerous honorable mentions.

On May 27, the children attended Mass in the church and were given their report cards following the service.

Spelling bee trophies for the year were presented to the following students: Grade 1 — Tom Jones, Grade 2 — Alyssa Line; 3 — Andrea Suarez; 4 — Steve Kusmierczak; 5 — Laura Smoliar; 6 — Diane Berkshire; and Grade 7 — Ed Papp.

Physical fitness awards were presented to four students who attained 85 per cent of the required activities:

Laura Milankovic — 3 year award.

Susan Squires — 1 year award.

TRUCK STOLEN, FOUND: A truck owned by Wagner Trucking Co., Madison, and kept at the home of Ira Stephens, 1326 Edwardsville Road, was stolen from his home Tuesday and was recovered by the Missouri Highway Patrol near Rolla, Mo., Tuesday night. Stephens said he left the keys in the truck in case Illinois Power Co. employees repairing a downed power line near the truck had to move it.

DIANA BOURISAW
Honor graduate

Diana Bourisaw earns 2 degrees

Miss Diana Marie Bourisaw of Florissant, Mo., formerly of Granite City, graduated with honors in May from Northeast Missouri State University, Kirksville, Mo., where she earned two degrees in three years.

During the commencement exercises, she received BSE degree in Special Education with Learning Disabilities and Behavior Disorders and a BS degree in Psychology.

This summer, Miss Bourisaw is in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, to begin work towards a master's degree and later will attend summer school at Kirksville where she will complete graduate studies in special education for her master's degree.

While in school, the former resident was on the dean's list and was a candidate for homecoming queen. She organized the first marathon dance for multiple sclerosis and collected $2,000 as a result of the benefit.

Among the service organizations she belonged to were Circle K (Kiwanis affiliated), Women's Recreation Association, Alpha Sigma Gamma, Honorary fraternity Alpha Phi Sigma and a member of the psychology club.

She also was a member of the Missouri State Teachers Association, Student Council for Exceptional Club and the Dormitory Council, Sigma Kappa social sorority, secretary of the pledge class and also served as chairman of ways and means committee for various events.

Miss Bourisaw is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Bourisaw, 3255 Classic Drive, Florissant, Mo., former Granite Cityans. She also is the granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Louise Bourisaw and William T. Quinn, both of Granite City.

HISTORIC OCCASION as a $2,750,000 dry bulk terminal is dedicated this month at the Tri-City Regional Port District. Carl A. Ranft, Port general manager, is shown addressing the gathering. Those with shovels for the groundbreaking are State Senator

Zoning hearing

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct an on-site public hearing at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, June 8, at 63 University Drive, Greenway Village Subdivision, Mitchell, where Al Delgado is requesting a special use permit to place a stockade fence from the front of the house around to the back yard.

He requests permission to install a fence at least eight feet high. The property is in an R-3 single-family residential district of Chouteau Township.

15,000 acres available in Tri-City Port area

(Tri-City Regional Port District)

The Tri-City Regional Port District exists as one of 12 public port districts in the state of Illinois and one of 5 port districts in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

It has under its authority approximately 15,000 acres of land adjacent to the Mississippi River, of which 300 acres are currently devoted to port operations, or are being developed as industrial sites.

The Port District was created by an Act of the Illinois legislature in 1959, and given the charge of improving and promoting transportation activities in Southwestern Illinois as a component of the U.S. inland waterways system.

This mandate has been effectively executed, as Tri-City has become the fastest growing port in the region and within the state of Illinois as a whole.

Today, the Port handles in excess of 1,000,000 tons of cargo annually via the facilities of Apex Oil Company, specializing in the storage and handling of liquid bulk materials; Bulk Service Corporation, handling dry bulk materials; and Granite City Terminals Corporation, maintaining facilities for the storage and handling of dry bulk commodities and general cargo.

Granite City Steel is a major shipper.

The location of the Tri-City Port on an ice-free, slack water channel of the Mississippi River and its extensive 5,000-ft. harbor ensure space for efficient fleet operations and room for future Port expansion.

Tri-City Port provides —

1. A full service multi-modal transportation and industrial center.

2. Complete facilities and services for containerized freight, general cargo, bulk liquid and dry-bulk handling.

3. Planning, engineering and financing assistance for business and industry.

The Port District's legislated area of authority includes Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau (southern portion) Townships of Madison County, Ill.

The territory represents an area of 23 square miles along 13 miles of the Mississippi River and Chain of Rocks Canal.

The territory represents one of the few reserves of industrial land at the heart of the St. Louis metropolitan area — within minutes of the St. Louis

Gateway Arch in downtown St. Louis, Mo.

The influence of the Port District extends far beyond that territory defined in the enabling legislation.

Industries throughout Illinois and the St. Louis area use the facilities of the Port for movement of goods to and from both domestic and foreign locations.

The Tri-City Regional Port District is governed by seven board members, each of whom is a resident of the four township areas.

Each board member serves for a term of three years, with a chairman being elected by the board on an annual basis. The secretary-treasurer is appointed by the board.

The Port District's general manager is the chief executive officer of the district, employed by the board to manage the development and operations of the port.

The operation of the Port's facilities is carried out by private operators which own or lease land and facilities from the Port District.

Currently, there are four companies engaged in public port operations, at the harbor:

Apex Oil Company — liquid bulk.

Bulk Service Corporation — dry bulk.

Granite City Terminal Corporation — dry bulk general cargo.

Art's Fleet — harbor fleet.

The Port District maintains close working relationships with public and private bodies throughout the area and state.

This coordination and communication ensures effective and timely decision-making in matters relating to port facility development.

Through its own Master Development Plan and knowledge of other regional, state and federal plans and policies, the Port District can ensure that developments will not be impeded by lack of either short or long-term development planning.

Because of its close liaison with state and federal authorities which influence and regulate waterway and land development, the Port District can provide assistance to industrial.

In 1976, the Port District began development of a 130-acre industrial park site immediately adjacent to its operational center of the port.

The Tri-City Port Industrial Park, when completed, will provide a completely serviced, planned environment for industries, warehousing operations and offices.

Foreign Trade Zone — In 1977, application was made to the Foreign Trade Zone's Board for designation as the St. Louis Metropolitan Area's FTZ.

A 47-acre tract of land in the Tri-City Port Industrial Park will house a 100,000-sq.-ft. warehousing manufacturing building as operational center of the FTZ.

Construction has begun on a dry-bulk terminal. The new facility will be capable of handling up to 5,000,000 tons per year of grain and grain products by both rail and truck shipment.

The facility is expected to be operational in 1978.

Land has been reserved for individual grain and grain product storage processing developments which will use the facility.

Eye comfort and safety object of sunglasses

By DARLENE HEER
Madison County
Extension Adviser,
Home Economics

Eye comfort and safety should come ahead of appearance and economics when buying sunglasses.

From a health standpoint, consumers should ask themselves two basic questions before selecting sunglasses:

Do the glasses provide adequate screening from excessive brightness, glare and invisible rays from the sun?

Secondly, do the sunglasses present special risks to one's safety?

Both visible and invisible solar rays can irritate and tire unprotected eyes. While pastel shades of sunglasses may be "in," they're definitely "out" as far as good vision is concerned. People wear pink, yellow, red, or violet lenses often experience eye irritation, fatigue, and the inability to see clearly in bright sunlight.

Neutral gray or sage green lenses are considered best for screening out harmful sun rays and glare. Furthermore, these lenses cause much less color distortion than do pastel lenses.

In addition to color, the quality of sunglass lenses should be considered. Plastic lenses cannot filter out the sun's infrared rays. While less expensive than sunglasses with glass lenses, those with plastic lenses do not provide adequate eye protection.

Sunglass lenses should be made of high-quality glass, precision ground and polished to eliminate defects that will distort images and produce eye fatigue. Prices of properly made glass lenses, of neutral gray or sage green, typically start at about $10.

Such glasses generally cost more than those with either plastic or poor-quality glass lenses. Price alone, however, is not a reliable guide. Some fashion glasses with inferior lenses may be quite costly.

When eye safety is concerned, lenses that distort color the least are recommended. This is especially true when sunglasses are worn when driving during the daylight hours. Lenses that distort colors of traffic lights, highway wear pink, yellow, red, or violet lenses often pose a serious hazard to safety.

In the past, plastic lenses and laminated glass lenses had one advantage over glass lenses: they did not shatter as easily.

Now government regulations require that all new prescription and non-prescription glasses and sunglasses be equipped with impact resistant lenses.

This safety measure will substantially reduce the frequency of eye injuries and thus safeguard one of your most vital and irreplaceable possessions — your eyes.

Prepayments under GI bill eliminated

Veterans attending school with GI Bill benefits must apply for an advance in July if they are to receive a VA check in time for enrollment. New legislation changed the laws for the VA and all automatic prepayment was eliminated, VA officials said.

Students must request the two-month advance through the school. The request, plus the school's certification of enrollment and agreement to process the advance payment, must reach VA one month before the start of regular school registration.

The student must have at least a full calendar month break between school terms in order to apply for the advance pay.

The new law changes the payment to the end of the month instead of the beginning for GI Bill students. Therefore, students who receive an advance payment in September, covering enrollment through October, will not receive another check until Dec. 1 for their November training.

The new procedures required of the VA also apply to vocational rehabilitation trainees who receive subsistence allowances.

Complete information on all VA education assistance programs is available from Veterans representatives on Campus or VA regional offices.

Registration may be in person or by mail. Those who wish to register by mail may request the ASCS county office to mail registration cards.

All persons who produced beef during calendar 1976 are eligible to register. This includes feedlot operators as well as dairymen. Each production entity — such as a family, partnership, or corporation — is entitled to vote. A 4-H or FFA member may register, provided he or she produced beef in 1976.

From June 6 through 17, the ASCS county office will daily post a list of producers registered to vote in a conspicuous place. A final list will be posted June 22. Anyone who challenges the eligibility of any producer listed, Rogers will resolve challenges.

From June 6 through 17, the ASCS county office will daily post a list of producers registered to vote in a conspicuous place. A final list will be posted June 22. Anyone who challenges the eligibility of any producer listed, Rogers will resolve challenges.

Cost of admission is $1.75 per person.

Nameki, Venice assessments reflect diligent efforts

Deadlines being rather inflexible, there are occasions when a particular factual point is made without fully relating it to other aspects of a topic. Such was the case Tuesday in the commentary, "second multiplier would have increased tax disparity."

It was noted that "Venice and Nameki townships escaped a multiplier due to their relatively high patterns of assessment, while Granite City received 1.48 and Chouteau Township received 1.15 multiplier." This is technically true since the two towns avoiding a multiplier were, relatively speaking, being assessed higher initially than the townships that wound up seeing all of their individual valuations raised by eight per cent or 15 per cent.

On the other hand, figures compiled by Nameki Assessor Carl Macios show that the average value in his township was slightly less than the 31.34 per cent required by the state for Madison County in the 1976 tax year (1977 collection). In this sense, it was a low valuation average, although not low enough to require a township multiplier.

Nameki and Venice townships are fortunate to have avoided multipliers and their property owners thus are better off due to the diligence and political courage of Assessors Macios and Margaret Reidelberger.

Since all townships were aware of the state's mandate to all counties, Nameki and Venice would have gained nothing by listing their assessments unusually low, waiting for a multiplier to be applied and then blaming "out-of-town" for it.

In praising Venice and Nameki assessing policies, residents need not automatically be critical of the situation in Chouteau and Granite City, where substantial efforts were made to keep pace but the impact of inflation on sales prices won the race with time, as judged by the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs.

Economic disclosure requirement extensively modified

Press-Record Springfield Bureau — Governor James Thompson's executive order on personal economic disclosure will substantially reduce the number of state employees who must file reports.

No exact figures are available because the Board of Ethics must establish rules determining who must file.

It's estimated that perhaps half of the 10,000 employees who filed reports under former Gov. Dan Walker's executive order will no longer be required to file.

Walker required employees earning $20,000 or more annually to file, plus employees who held sensitive jobs which caused more concern for conflict-of-interest.

Thompson abolished the $20,000 threshold. Those required to file under his order include:

Each appointive of the governor, except those members of a commission which is purely advisory.

Employees who certify vouchers, handle contracts or issue professional licenses.

And employees who handle financial inspections of private industry or employees who regulate private industry.

In addition, those persons who must file under Thompson's executive order do not have to disclose as much financial information as they did when Walker was governor.

For one thing, copies of federal and state income tax returns are no longer required. Also, an employee does not have to disclose his net worth nor the exact amount of his economic interests.

A committee chaired by Anna Lingford recommended the changes to the governor. "In light of the board's administrative experience, we find it difficult to understand how the submission of income tax materials is important to the enforcement of economic disclosure requirements," the committee said.

"Despite approximately 10,000 financial disclosure filings made with the board on an annual basis, no significant use has been made of the information revealed on individual income tax returns."

Concerning net worth, the committee said: "The disclosure of an individual's net worth does not provide a useful standard, by which to gauge the presence of conflict of interest. Fluctuations in net worth over a period of years can be attributed to a wide variety of factors — like inheritance — which have no relationship to official corruption."

Employees will be required to disclose investment interests, sources of income, business positions, liabilities, property holdings, professional licenses and gifts received.

However, unlike the previous requirement, the exact amount of the above information need not be disclosed. Threshold limits will replace net worth disclosures. While this change may be a step backward, Thompson's executive order is stronger than Walker's in two respects:

One, it requires that the names of employees who do not comply with the order be made public. The committee said Walker dismissed 19 persons as a result of the order, but no action was taken against some employees who did not comply.

Two, it makes public the financial information on persons appointed to boards and commissions. Under the previous order, those persons had to file, but the information was not open to public inspection.

'Experiment' seems to be helping steelworkers, firms

The experimental negotiating agreement between major steelmakers and the United Steelworkers of America remains controversial. But its substitution of arbitration procedures for strikes and lockouts seems to be achieving a mutual labor-management goal — the reduction of cyclical employment patterns that saw frenzied stockpiling, long production pauses and increasing loss of the steel market to foreign producers.

The ENA does not apply to local-level issues at steel plants, but fortunately these have just been resolved at Granite City Steel. The May 27 local pact, following the April national agreement, means that the possibility of an Aug. 1 strike by steelworkers has been avoided.

"Dividends" will include significant new benefits for employees, continued ability to operate profitably, and considerable growth in mutual understanding of mutual needs and problems.

Propose higher taxing exemption

By MAURICE W. SCOTT
Executive Vice President Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

The Illinois House met its deadline for final action on its own bills and the Senate also will meet a deadline on its bills. Only a few from weeks will remain before the General Assembly meets its traditional June 30 adjournment.

A rundown on important bills affecting taxpayers follows:

Income tax break—H.B. 881, now in the Senate, would annually increase the present $100 standard individual state income tax exemption by the rate of inflation. The federal government's consumer price index should jump seven per cent in 1977, then the individual exemption also would rise seven per cent to $170.

Two tax proposals dead—H.B. 908, the bill that increased the taxes on alcohol, lost in the House and was tabled. H.B. 812, which proposed to increase the cigarette tax, lost in House committee.

Exemption of food and drug sales—The bill to do this, H.B. 273, has been sent to a House interim study committee. When the state's General Revenue Fund can afford it, this type of legislation will pass.

Lifetime legislation dead—H.B. 813, which allowed lower utility rates for home users, was defeated on the floor of the House.

Legislators' allowance increases—H.B. 255, which increased legislators' mileage payment from 25 cents a mile to 20 cents a mile; H.B. 255, which increases legislators' per diem expense payment from $8 a day to $44 a day; and H.B. 273, which increases legislators' office allowance from $12,000 to $17,000 per year, have all passed the House and are now in the Senate.

Our comment is that the General Assembly is acting responsibly in debating these bills now as part of the budgetary process and not slipping them in after the date of the November 1978 election and before the date in January 1979 when a new General Assembly convenes.

Public employees' collective bargaining—The bill that establishes collective bargaining for public employees, H.B. 2, has passed the House and is now in the Senate.

Marriage page may go up—"The tax on people who want to get married" will go up from $10 to $15 if H.B. 1290, which is already in the House, is successful in the Senate. Money generated from this fee goes to the counties.

Energy alternative study—Alternative forms of energy for Illinois will be studied with $5 million from the state's Coal Development Bond Act under legislation now in the Senate after passing the House (H.B. 1279).

Exemption from sales tax—Manufacturing and agricultural production equipment would be exempt from the state sales tax under provisions of H.B. 1812, which has passed the House. The bill is designed to encourage business expansion by providing new jobs as well as added tax revenue.

Sunset bill—H.B. 2231, headed by the House, would limit the House's purpose is to limit the lives of state regulatory and licensing agencies. If such agencies have served their purpose, they will become extinct.

Crackdown on 'pleasure' car usage is unfair

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

When some Illinois congressmen suggested that the polling booth would be more persuasive than the White House in shaping President Carter's energy plan, they were thinking chiefly of how voters would react to the gasoline tax. House Minority Whip Robert Michel of Peoria believes he has a letter that sums up voter antipathy pretty well.

In fact, Michel thought so highly of a letter from a Knox County man he entered it in the Congressional Record for the edification of his colleagues.

Michel pointed out last week that G. E. McAlister of St. Augustine sent copies of the letter to him, Pres. Carter, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Charles H. Percy and Gov. James Thompson.

"This is but a single voice," Michel said in entering McAlister's letter in the record. "To some it might be a voice crying in the wilderness," but to me it is the voice of the people and it had better be listened to."

The President had hardly sent his message to Congress before McAlister reached to the proposed gasoline tax, describing what may be a fairly typical family trying to cope nowadays.

He said he is middle-aged, married, father of two children, and a welding engineer earning a little more than $18,000 a year. The McAlisters live 14 miles from his work, on two acres they are improving, because they can't afford mortgage payments or rent to live closer.

McAlister commutes at a cost of $80 a year for gasoline. His working hours preclude carpooling and there is no public transportation in his area.

Like most, he finds taxes burdensome and utility bills increasing, up to more than 18 per cent.

McAlister recited some of the economies his family practices that may have a familiar ring to others in a similar circumstance.

"We use our auto for pleasure approximately once a week and never travel over 85 miles more than twice a year."

"We haven't been able to put our 1967 model boat (35 horsepower) in the water since 1974."

"We super-insulated our home, turned the thermostat down to 55 degrees F., water heater to 'warm,' turned insulated underwear and fired the fireplace with wood which we cleared, cut and split ourselves."

"We had our night-light removed, which saved $84 a year on our energy bill at current prices."

"We have four hens and one duck producing approximately 27 eggs per week. We raise a large garden each year and store or can vegetables."

"We drive a 1967 Olds wagon and a 1963 pickup truck because we can't afford a better one and educate two children. I do my own maintenance and overhaul work."

McAlister said his family has "what little we do have" because he has steady work and they are conservative.

"Will you," he asks Washington, "Please take time to digest this and help make me understand why it's necessary for me to spend additional taxes for the gasoline which we are consuming?"

Michel, commenting on the letter, said that unless it is persuasive and reasonable arguments are considered before enacting the increased gasoline tax, "there will be terrible injustice done in this country."

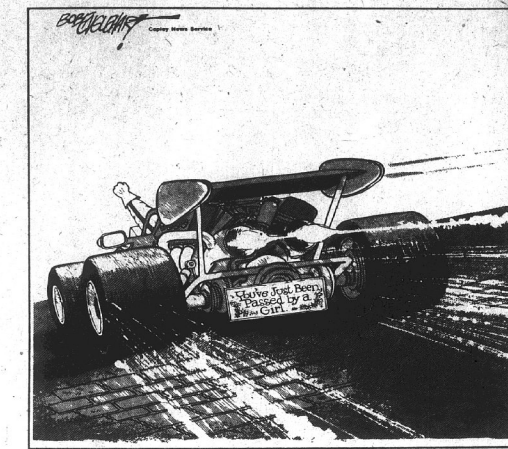

They thought they had driven a wooden stake through the heart of the MOPPS solution, but here in our editorial the monster was rising again.

In January, about 70 ERA people were thrown into a task force to study potential supply and demand.

From $2.50 to $3 we've been engulfed with it. MOPPS reckoned that at $2.50 the U.S. would have about 45 years' worth of natural gas at current levels of consumption.

The price would have to go higher to tap some of the unconventional sources like geothermally heated water, which conceptually would last for a thousand years.

But why would anyone worry about these exotic sources if we had 45 years' worth of the usual

Teen drinking causes many problems

To the Editor:

Re: Two very interesting articles in the May 19 issue of the Press-Record.

Close Vote on Drinks at 18. Alarming Growth in Teenage Drinking.

It appears that the state of Illinois and the public would like to raise the legal drinking age back to 21.

In October 1973, an article appeared on The Forum stating, "The state treasury would receive more revenue by allowing the 19-year-old youths to drink beer and wine (alcoholic beverages), and whether the state will be happy or not remains to be seen."

It seems the people, taxpayers and state aren't too happy about the 19-year-old drinking law because now, after about 3 1/2 years, the results of this law are beginning to come in and they aren't very good.

Since Illinois lowered the legal drinking age for beer and wine nearly four years ago, traffic accidents have increased 31 per cent among drivers under the age of 21 years old.

More is a principal reason why girls are encouraged to kill their babies instead of placing them with adoptive parents, for GNP to cause conservatism.

My original comment was occasioned by the pitiful case in St. Louis last year of a poor mother who sold her well-cared-for baby to a policeman. He increased for persons under 21 years, who were arrested, by about 20 per cent between 1972 and 1975.

Dr. David Ohlms, president of the St. Louis Council on Alcoholism, speaking at Carondeau, estimated that five per cent of all high school graduates bring year the alcoholics.

The last sentence in the October 1973 article read, in part, "good luck to the state those affected and afflicted by the new ranks of alcohol users and the future potential alcoholics."

Diversionary issues by ERA backers

To the Editor:

Having failed for five straight years to persuade the Illinois legislature to ratify ERA, the ERA proponents have launched a personal attack on me that includes smear epithets and phrases taken out of context.

Nearly all Equal Rights advocates favor killing babies who are unwanted by their mothers. This is called abortion, and it is a prime goal of the National Organization for Women (the leaders in the ERA abortion. ERA proponents have raised a false issue about adoptions that are accompanied by the payment of money.

Why should the issue, let's have a full investigation of how much more money there is in abortions than in adoptions.

Money is a principal reason why girls are encouraged to kill their babies instead of placing them with adoptive parents, for GNP to cause conservatism.

My original comment was occasioned by the pitiful case in St. Louis last year of a poor mother who sold her well-cared-for baby to a policeman. He paid her $60, and then promptly arrested her.

She was convicted and sentenced to a year in jail, which is an opportunity suspended.

Yes, I do think the police have better things to do than going around buying babies and prosecuting poor, mixed-up mothers.

The fact that the ERA lobby indulges in personal attacks and diversionary issues against me proves the weakness of their case for ERA.

'ERDA'-gate in Washington

Wall Street Journal — We were frankly astonished at the reaction to our April 27 edition, "1,001 Years of Natural Gas."

How could the President go on television with ringing calls for sacrifice?

Why should American taxpayers be scared into coughing up billions of dollars — something like five per cent of GNP to cause conservatism?

How could Exxon recoup its investments in gasification research and coal properties by supplying gas from these sources at $3.75 per mcf?

The innocent scientists and technologists in MOPPS had no idea what vested interests their simple calculations threatened.

Even more to the point, bearing this unwanted message to the White House would be a black mark against the ERA bureaucracy.

The Federal Energy Administration would be in a position to gobble up all of the best spots when the two were merged into the new Department of Energy.

Given these realities, there was only one answer to the no-energy-crisis crisis.

The ERA brass recalled the MOPPS study, and three out of the charts that had been so innocently put together over the years were found.

By April 6, it had a "revised" MOPPS study, with the charts looking much like those from the FEA.

In these five days, the price projections jumped so high that the energy crisis was back in business.

Mr. Carter's regulated gas price of $1.75 looked good, because MOPPS II showed that higher prices in an unregulated market won't do much good anyway.

And surely it would be prudent to give Exxon and other coal-gasification people a few billion dollars of tax money to spend on their plants.

A higher price can even be given to exotic sources like geothermally heated water, which conceptually would last for a thousand years.

But why would anyone worry about these exotic sources if we had 45 years' worth of the usual stuff likely to be available at lower prices?

Indeed, if that were true how could there be an energy crisis? How could the President go on television with ringing calls for sacrifice?

Why should American taxpayers be scared into coughing up billions of dollars — something like five per cent of GNP to cause conservatism?

How could Exxon recoup its investments in gasification research and coal properties by supplying gas from these sources at $3.75 per mcf?

The innocent scientists and technologists in MOPPS had no idea what vested interests their simple calculations threatened.

Even more to the point, bearing this unwanted message to the White House would be a black mark against the ERA bureaucracy.

The Federal Energy Administration would be in a position to gobble up all of the best spots when the two were merged into the new Department of Energy.

Given these realities, there was only one answer to the no-energy-crisis crisis.

The ERA brass recalled the MOPPS study, and three out of the charts that had been so innocently put together over the years were found.

By April 6, it had a "revised" MOPPS study, with the charts looking much like those from the FEA.

In these five days, the price projections jumped so high that the energy crisis was back in business.

Mr. Carter's regulated gas price of $1.75 looked good, because MOPPS II showed that higher prices in an unregulated market won't do much good anyway.

And surely it would be prudent to give Exxon and other coal-gasification people a few billion dollars of tax money to spend on their plants.

A higher price can even be given to exotic sources like geothermally heated water, which conceptually would last for a thousand years.

But why would anyone worry about these exotic sources if we had 45 years' worth of the usual prices of ordinary gas to rise into the $1.75-$3 range, where if MOPPS I is right they would bring on the next generation of gas at threateningly low prices.

While promising to do the research, ERDA has disbanded the MOPPS I crew, reassigning its members to study almost anything else but natural gas.

Now we have no idea whether the price figures in MOPPS I are correct. It is certainly possible for other groups in the administration to dispute them in all good faith.

And clearly Exxon has made serious investment decisions on the basis of other numbers, though perhaps tempered with "political reality."

But to use the MOPPS I estimates seem not at all implausible, given the one thing we know for sure about natural gas: Since the Phillips decision in 1964 its price has been held at not artificially but, in recent years, ridiculously low levels.

Most of the gas found has only been a by-product of oil exploration. It stands to reason that if looking for gas suddenly becomes profitable a lot will suddenly be found.

But the point is — the point of our original editorial was — that no one will know until the price is deregulated.

MOPPS certainly does show, though, how many vested interests need the energy crisis. The President needs a "war" to fight.

Without an energy crisis, the energy bureaucracy cannot grow. The energy companies are turning into a regulated industry, all of which try to dampen innovation.

James Schlesinger bragging that privately most companies do not favor deregulation. This is not yet true, but in time the proposed policies certainly would reduce the oil companies to the state of the airlines.

All of this clouding the energy crisis, it is scarcely surprising that a crude but effective message goes out: By gosh, boys, there has to be an energy crisis, so don't nobody find no energy.

Parking limits in Madison to be enforced

The one-hour parking limit on and near Madison Avenue in Madison, will be strictly enforced, according to Chief of Police Donald Bridick.

"Officers will be ordered to issue tickets and if necessary we will have the cars towed. Unfortunately, many people drive to the Madison Avenue area, park on the side streets near Madison Avenue or on Madison Avenue itself and then take buses to St. Louis," Bridick said.

"This creates a hardship on persons wanting to shop in Madison and is in violation of the city ordinance," Bridick added.

A NEW CONCEPT FROM TELL CITY

Why didn't they think of it before? All of us know someone who struggles to get up from a low-seated rocker or chair. Someone too proud to ask for help. Now, Tell City has built the help right into this High 'n Easy Rocker. Runners are flatter, have a backstop. So it won't rock back as far. Won't tilt forward when you put weight on the arms. You can push going up, brake going down. Seat is higher, too, so you don't go down as far. It's comfortable, too—with a high back to lean your head against. And curved spindles to fit your spine. Just right for less active people who want a rocker that's less active. Buy it for someone you love. Even if that someone is you.

The High 'n Easy Rocker

- Professionally engineered for less active people.
- Extra-sturdy construction.
- Made of Solid Hard Rock Maple.

New home and residential improvements planned

Fifty-four building permits with values totaling $108,394 were issued by Granite City during the first half of May, according to a report released by the city's permit section.

The permits include a new $9,000 home being constructed at 1649 Poplar St., by Helen Hileman, and several repairs for repairs and remodeling of commercial buildings, including an $11,000 grant at Amco Plumbing Co., 2401 Delmar.

Other permits issued during the first half of May, and the value of each project were issued to: Joe Ropac, 2422 Woodlawn, garage, $1,000; Fred Rice, 2322 Washington, roof on porch, $400; Coordinated Youth Services, 1252 Niedringhaus, remodel, $300; Lurton Pulley, 2233 Nevada, overhang to porch, $400; Douglas Givins, 2042 Emer, roof addition, $5,700; Carlos Jordan, 2526 Nameoki Road, storage shed, $600; and Chester McManaway, 1205 Rhodes, repair siding, $800, and new roof, $800.

George Arnold, 225 W. Pontoon, siding, $650; Edward Pulley, 4007 Melrose, room addition, $8,000; Lacey Randolph, 2605 Adams, extend porch, $400; and Oliver Stegelmeyer, 2517 Grand, siding and concrete slab; Craig Nomm, 3102 St. of Wayne, concrete patio, $180, and Paul Freeman, 3419 Lydia Lane, porch extension, $8,000.

Vernis Transmission, 2145 Madison, sign, no cost listed; Marvin Gray, 2808 Sheridan, remodel home, $400; Patricia Wyman, 1848 Poplar, mobile home, $13,000; Charles Polley, 2810 Iowa, remodel, $1,000; Rufus Valencia, 2920 Victory, room addition, $2,000; George Gracian, 2300 Washington, garage, $2,000; Andrew Butkovich, 2249 Waterman, garage, $2,100, and Ron Castle, 2840 Palmer, two-room addition, $3,500.

Claude Kessler, 46 Riviera, room addition, $10,000; David Schmidt, 2909 Pontoon, roof, $425; Carl Ranft, 2850 Delmar, guttering, $1,500; Lewis Laboratory, 3045 Myrtle, garage, $1,000; Frank Jones, 2200 Johnson, driveway, $1,500; Paul Smith, 2427 Edwards, siding, $400, and State Loan and Savings Association, Niedringhaus and Edison, truck-pointing, $2,000.

Also Walter C. Slaby, 1221 Meridian, roof, $289; Fred Bilyeu, 1955 Maple, roof and eaves repair, $350, and Von Dee Cruise, 2329 Edwards, repairs, $4,000.

Permits to raise buildings were issued to Chester McManaway to raise a garage at 2039 Fourteenth St., and Robert Lowe, to raise a house at 2807 Marshall Ave.

While the number of permits issued in the first half of May is exceeding the 31 issued during the first half of April, six commercial projects boosted the April values above those at the beginning of May, the report noted.

April permits were bolstered by a $109,000 locker room addition to A.O. Smith Corp.; a $14,000 office and maintenance shop at American Colloid; a $17,000 remodeling of Al's Auto Parts; a $7,000 loading dock addition to National Auto Parts; and a $12,000 project converting Kelly Meat Market into a dental office, and a $1,000 remodeling of Corner Produce.

The permits issued during April also included two for new homes, one for a mobile home, 13 for garages and carports, seven for room additions and 39 to remodel and repair structures.

Permits during April totaled $135,766. Permits issued in the second half of April were to: Frank Griffith, 3856 Bradley, patio, $600; G & S Construction, new residence at 325 Wilson Park Lane, $22,000, and another at 326 Wilson Park Lane, $22,000; Harold Sullivan, 1612 Primrose, siding, $8,500; Nick Pettrillo, 2517 Edison, roof, $200, and Donald Bellman, 2107 Lindell, garage, $5,000.

Tree diseases meeting topic

By RON CORNWELL
Madison County
Agricultural Advisor

A meeting on tree diseases is scheduled Wednesday evening, June 8, at the Farm Bureau auditorium in Edwardsville, according to Bob Esch, chairman of the Extension Horticulture Committee. The program will start at 7:30 p.m.

The speaker will be Wayne Siefert, area Extension agent in ornamental horticulture.

This time of year a number of different tree diseases affect shade trees. These diseases are often of great concern to the homeowner.

The program will cover diseases and management problems of ornamental trees. One of the major topics will be a discussion of the wilt diseases of Elm, Oak and Maple. Blight diseases of Sycamore and Pine trees in the Madison County area will be discussed.

Siefert will cover the effect diseases have on shade trees. In cases where a disease can be controlled, he will cover recommended control measures. He will also discuss the long-range effect of tree diseases on suburban as well as wild trees.

Each encourages the most important tree disease questions to the program. Adequate time will be scheduled for a question and answer session. The tree disease meeting is sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. For additional details, Quad Cityans may call 656-7200.

Madison County farmers are invited to stop by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service wheat variety plot located on the north side of Route 22 which is 1 1/4 miles west of Route 159 near Mory. The plot was planted last fall by Bill Dorsey or the Dorsey farm.

Signs identify each variety in the plot. The plot contains four hard wheat varieties and ten soft wheat varieties. The hard wheat varieties include Trison, Gage, Centurk and Parker. The soft wheat varieties include Oasis, Argee, Hart, Arthur T1, Bluejay H1, Beau Abe, Arthur, Stoddard and Double Crop.

TFP plot contains three new soft wheat varieties. They include Argee, Beau and Hart. Argee is a bearded soft winter wheat variety. It was developed at the University of Wisconsin and is very winter hardy. This will be one of the latest maturing wheat varieties in the plot. Because of the late maturity, it will probably do better in Northern Illinois than in Southern Illinois.

Beau is a variety released by Purdue University. Beau has excellent disease resistance and matures about a day later than Arthur. It has good lodging resistance.

Hart is a variety released jointly by the University of Missouri and Penn State University. It is bearded like Argee. It has good disease resistance but is susceptible to Hessian Fly.

Double Crop was a variety in the plot for the first time last year. This variety is of interest because of its early maturity.

This early maturity makes the variety useful in a double cropping situation with soybeans.

Wheat Scab disease is one of the most important wheat diseases in Illinois.

Scabby wheat saved as seeds can cause serious seedling blight and root problems in next year's crop. The scab fungus affects wheat by reducing grain yield and quality.

Wheat producers should check the wheat heads for signs of premature ripening or bleaching of spikelets. When the dough stage is reached, the light yellow color of infected spikelets will contrast sharply with the healthy green of the uninfected areas of the head. A light pink or salmon colored mold growth may appear at the base of the infected spikelets.

If scab is observed in a field from which seed is to be saved, the grain should be cleaned to remove light weight kernels. A seed treatment should be applied before planting. Seed treatments containing Vitavax in addition to Captan, Manab or Thiram will give better control of scab seedling blights than other treatments.

One method of controlling thistles is to prevent them from going to seed. Chemical control is probably the best approach. However, you can keep thistles from going to seed by repeated mowing which depletes the root reserves of the plant.

To show the extent of the problem one flower head on the musk thistle plant produces 40,000 seeds. There are several flower heads produced on a plant.

Now is the time to mow thistle before they go to seed.

Appeals ruling

William L. Vernor, 32, Collinsville, has posted a $50,000 appeal bond after being found guilty by Circuit Judge John Delaruenti in Madison County Circuit Court of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance in this county.

Judge Delaruenti sentenced Vernor to serve two to eight years in prison after the verdict was reached, and Vernor was released after posting the appeal bond.

Undercover agents of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation and the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois alleged he sold cocaine to undercover agents for $500 in late 1975.
